Spring Cleanup Week

BAD SHOW — Someone apparently tired of their television set. In background is Christmas tree.

LAST RIDE — It was the end of the trail for hundreds of bikes.

Biggest Year for Junk

They came in caravans. Some driving trucks, others in cars, and still others pulling U-Haul trailers.

It was "Spring Cleanup Week" in Daly City and Al Sereni, president of the Scavenger Company, opened the Mussel Rock dumpsite for anyone who wanted to get rid of their junk — free of charge.

It was the biggest year yet for the annual campaign aimed at eliminating fire hazards in and around homes and generally sprucing up the city.

More than 9,000 vehicles, of all shapes and sizes, pulled into the oceanside dumping ground, depositing some 10,000 tons of refuse.

All a driver had to do was show his license to prove his residency.

Most people cooperated.

Others took offense to being asked to show their driver's license or other proof of residence.

"We explained that the dumping was free — but only for our usual customers who live in Daly City, Broadmoor or Pacifica," Sereni said.

Sponsors of the event, besides the scavengers, were the Chamber of Commerce and Fire Department, with backing from ten local merchant and homeowner associations.

Everything from bicycles ("piles of them") to garbage pails and television sets were discarded.

Even a Christmas tree was thrown away by someone who apparently stretched the holiday for all it was worth.

There was a kitchen sink, outdoor bar-b-ques, broken children's toys, rugs, engine blocks, tea kettles, chairs, tables, cabinets, lawnmowers. Every imaginable item associated with modern living.

They came, they dumped, they did it free.

Some brought junk and took home other junk after seeing something they wanted in the pile. —FLP

JESD Audit Report Not On Agenda

The long-awaited special state audit report of the Jefferson Elementary School District will not be included on the agenda for the regular school board meeting Wednesday.

Illness on the part of those responsible for the audit in the State Finance Department has caused the matter to again be postponed — some four months after the audit was conducted.

The audit report and the reasons behind it have been shrouded in mystery with no one at the local or state level wishing to discuss its contents.

A spokesman for the State Audits Department said Monday the report would be forthcoming by mid-June.

Other matters to be discussed at the session scheduled to start at 7 p.m. in the council chambers at Daly City City Hall, is the matter of passing, in special session, a motion which would give preference to the re-hiring of those 24 teachers terminated earlier because of declining student enrollments and the district's financial picture.

Trustee Dorothy Adams had asked that the matter be put in the form of a motion, rather than a verbal understanding, regarding the re-hiring priority.

The attendance boundaries of General Pershing, Crocker and George Washington schools will again be discussed with Superintendent Frank Greenwood expected to recommend that no attempt be made during the upcoming school year to change the organizational pattern of these three schools.

Meeting Today

Loss of Instructor Looms In Special Jeff Program

If the special education program at Jefferson High School in Daly City suffers the loss of one of its two instructors, next year, the program will not survive.

This is the opinion of Jeff Pelzner, one of the program's instructors and special education work coordinator.

"The loss of one staff member would severely hamper the educational future of the kids," Pelzner related. "One person could not do all the educational programs and vocational counseling needed."

An admissions and dismissal meeting is scheduled for this morning at the Jefferson Union High School District office to determine if one instructor will be dismissed.

Pelzner and JUHSD assistant superintendent of educational services, Dr. Floyd Gonella, appear to have differing perspectives of the situation.

Gonella explained that according to state laws the special teacher ratio in the special education program must be 18 to 1.

At one time there were three instructors at the Jefferson program and two at Oceana High School. However, state guidelines for IQ levels, which qualify a student for the class have been raised. Thus, enrollments in the special education programs are dropping.

"We are not getting in enough students to put the teacher ratio in that bracket," Gonella declared. He does not feel that decreasing the staff for the program would have any effect on the education quality of the program.

"We are allotting staff according to state formula, not our formula," he offered.

However, while Gonella predicts a drop in enrollment at both Oceana and Jeff, Pelzner sees an increase in Jeff but a drop in Oceana.

Pelzner related his projection of an increase to 21 students from 19 in the fall and Gonella noted he expects 16 or 17 students in the Jefferson class. Presently there are 11 students in the Oceana class.

Gonella emphasized that releasing one instructor from the program is certainly not a cut-back but an attempt to meet state guidelines.

Pelzner is responsible for much of the job finding for the students in his program. Mrs. Barbara Neimeris is involved in a learning approach known as the "Montessori technique" as her part of the instruction.

"It is important to have a man and a woman in a program like this," Pelzner said. He noted the students, who are freshmen to seniors, need to identify with someone of their own sex. Pelzner also explained that two teachers are necessary since one teacher, himself, spends much time on the phone talking with parents, counselors, probation officers and employers of the students.

The program at Jefferson is a complex one involving two phases, vocational and basic skills. Sophomores and juniors prepare for work experience while seniors are required to be employed off campus part of their school day.

"In terms of learning, this program is their mainstay," Pelzner declared. Extensive use is made of the North County (Please See Page 2, Column 3)

Bible Dispute Grows In Daly City Schools

By FRANK LAPIERRE

The dispute over distribution of Gideon Bibles to elementary school children in the Daly City area is growing, with some parents threatening legal action unless the practice is stopped.

Last month, acting on the opinion of Deputy District Attorney Thomas Casey, the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees authorized Superintendent Frank Greenwood to use his discretion in handling a request by the Gideons to hand out Bibles on school campuses.

Casey made his opinion, he said, in the absence of board policy on distribution of such material to children within the district.

Almost immediately the superintendent allowed the Bibles to be distributed at two schools in the district, to the chagrin of some school board members.

What is particularly aggravating to trustees Dorothy Adams and Beverly Forrester is the fact that Casey's legal advice was based on the alleged non-existence of board policy.

Casey said that without such policy the board had to consider allowing the Gideons, and anyone else, to distribute literature after clearing such requests through the school administration.

But there is documented proof on file in the Office of the Superintendent of Schools for San Mateo County, the San Mateo County District Attorney's office and the State Attorney General's Office that distribution of Bibles at schools violates the Constitution of the United States.

As early as October 1970, San Mateo County Deputy District Attorney L. M. Summey advised the County Schools superintendent of the law in this regard and this information was passed on to district officials.

According to Administrative Bulletin (No. 71-1), a six page report to district superintendents, County Superintendent of Schools J. Russell Kent had asked Summey for his opinion.

Summey replied that he had based his opinion on recent court decisions and called Kent's attention to D.A. Office Opinion No. 70-36.

This particular D.A. Opinion was sent to Nelson W. Burdett, assistant superintendent of the San Carlos School District on October 21, 1970 and concerned the opinion of Dep. D.A. James (Please See Page 2, Column 6)

This Is Aviation Week in San Bruno

Celebrating its seventh annual aviation week, San Bruno this week honors United Air Lines Maintenance Base for its 25th anniversary.

Aviation Week events include daily tours of the Maintenance Base, "Transpo 73" exhibits at Tanforan shopping center, an aerial beauty contest, a luncheon, and a basketball contest between city officials and United's girl basketball team.

San Bruno's Aviation Week runs from May 13 through May 20, said the Chamber of Commerce.

A California Scenic Flight, and beauty contest May 19, will be aboard a wide bodied DC-10, one of the newest and quietest jets in the air. The Miss San Bruno Contest will have three contestants for the title: April Adams, 19-year-old student at College of San Mateo; Elaine Bule, 17½-year-old student at Cretmoor High School, and Debra Shoup, 17-year-old student at Capuchino High School. Tickets for the flight are available at the Chamber of Commerce, on a first come, first served basis.

An Aviation Week Luncheon is scheduled for May 17 at the Airport Hilton Inn. Guest speaker will be retired Air Force Colonel Joe Cotton, who is a test pilot for United Air Lines. He was Chief Test Pilot for the XB-70 sub-supersonic aircraft program, and has observed many changes in aviation during the last decade. United Air Lines will receive an award for their continuing contribution to the San Bruno economy. Tickets are available at the Chamber.

San Bruno Chamber and City officials will have a rematch with the Hotshots Girls Team from U.A.L. May 15 at Cretmoor High School Gym. Last year's game was won by the Hotshots. Mayor George Corey attributed the loss to the men's handicap. They must wear boxing gloves. This event is free and open to the public. Game time is 8 p.m.

Copter Takes Crash Victim To Hospital

A young sailor who suffered a possible broken back after a Jeep overturned on him during a hill-climbing expedition on San Bruno Mountain Sunday was airlifted by a Coast Guard helicopter from the accident scene to Peninsula Hospital.

Attendants at the hospital reported that the victim, Keith Owsley, 20, of Reno, who is stationed at Mare Island Naval Shipyard, was given emergency treatment and transferred to Oak Knoll Naval Hospital, Oakland.

According to the Highway Patrol, Owsley was a passenger in a Jeep driven by another sailor, Dale Laycock, 20. The two were hill-climbing in the vehicle about 500 yards uphill from Hillside School, in South San Francisco about 3 p.m., when the vehicle lost traction and began rolling backward downhill.

Laycock, thrown clear, suffered a fractured left arm and facial injuries. Owsley remained in the Jeep and was pinned under the vehicle when it overturned in the bottom of a gulley.

Frederick Peel, driving another Jeep, assisted Laycock to the schoolyard and summoned help. Ambulance attendants were reluctant to try and carry Owsley down the hillside because of his back injury. They requested a helicopter.

The Coast Guard helicopter, piloted by Lt. Scott McDowell, managed to set down next to the (Please See Page 2, Column 1) daughter of the Fred Stewarts of Broadmoor, will be one of eight Californians to make the trip to Nashville, Tenn., home of the Grand Ol' Opry.

The Cumberland Valley Girl Scout Council of Nashville is sponsoring the musical convention. Miss Stewart plays the barsaxophone in the Westmoor Jazz Band.

She will attend workshops on all phases of music, including country, rock, jazz, gospel, and folk, as well as rehearse and perform in a band, attend recording sessions and attend the Grand Ol' Opry Music Hall of Fame, Opryland.

Bayhill Referendum Is On; Bruno Votes 3-2 on Plans

Last minute attempts to blunt criticism of the potential traffic problems surrounding the development of two 13-story office buildings in San Bruno's Bayhill Development failed last night. As a result, the promised referendum effort to place the matter to the public vote is on. Approval of the second reading of a revised ordinance tallied the same 3-2 vote as was recorded in the first reading. Voting yes were Mayor Margaret Kozkowski and Councilmen George Corey and Tony Governale. Casting dissenting votes were Councilmen Neil Christal and John Barnard. Corey had attempted to meet critics' demands by offering through a letter a five-point solution. He recommended that the burden of proving traffic density figures are "fair and reasonable ones" be placed on the developer. According to Corey, the only way to be able to do this is to let the project be developed, at least part way, then to take a traffic count. If that count is

"fair and reasonable" the development would be allowed to continue. To insure this study be done and paid for by the developer, Corey proposed that the developer post a $5,000 bond to reimburse the city for the study. The majority vote agreed to this proposal, allowing the development of 1.5 million square feet of office space, at which time a traffic study would be made. This proposal must be agreed to by Aetna Life Insurance Company, owners of the 80-acre Bayhill property, according to Lewis Douglas, who is the Los Angeles-based developer of the total Bayhill acreage. Douglas said, "I am willing to urge Aetna to accept that (Corey's) point of view." He said that by next week he would be able to discuss the matter with Aetna officials. "I think his (Corey's) suggestion is a good one," said Douglas.

Christal said he was "surprised" at getting Corey's "uncanted letter" in that he (Christal) had already received most of the information it contained from other sources he said he couldn't name. Christal also alluded to the fact there were in the past two weeks many meetings with unions, "possibly the builder" and some of the council where the "terms" of Corey's letter were discussed.

He called the letter "beautiful" but said it was "too little too late," and "after the fact." He said traffic, density and other potential problems should be ironed out before any approval to rezone is given.

Barnard said his original objections have not changed. He said there is "no sense" in studying the traffic "after-the-fact."

Both Barnard and Christal, as well as resident opponents reiterated they were not against office buildings. However, they preferred them of a low density order.

Governale responded to Christal's remarks about various meetings, in his defense of Corey's proposal.

"If anyone wants to know who met with labor this week it was myself," said Governale. "I also met with private citizens, the developer and for two hours with representatives of the Labor Council of San Mateo County. They have a real stake in this development," said Governale.

Dick Bell of Pacifica, representative of the San Mateo County Building Construction Trades Council, said he was "speaking for 30-plus unions representing 20,000 working people in this county" in supporting the office project.

Meanwhile, the leaders of the opposition in the community issued a hastily prepared statement after the meeting.

"Tonight's approval constitutes a major concession to the Bayhill developers," said the statement, written by Terri Rasmussen and agreed to by Leonard Hausken and Gary Mondtrans. "A wise city does not give away substantial concessions before first obtaining the best possible benefits."

SSF Driver in Crash, Arrested

Robert Morton, 23, 500 A St., Colma, was arrested on a drunken driving charge early this morning after he ran into a parked car, demolishing his 1972 automobile. He was being held in lieu of $960 bail.

According to South San Francisco police, the accident took place at Commercial and Orange avenues. Morton escaped with minor injuries.

Daly City Teachers Fired

The Jefferson Elementary School Board Friday fired 24 of its teachers because of declining student enrollment and a worsening financial stature.

It was the first time in memory the board took action not to rehire teachers.

Two years ago the district, in one of its most controversial issues, fired some 277 teachers who walked off the job in the district's 23 schools.

Friday's vote was taken in two separate actions.

First, on a split 3-1 vote with trustee Beverly Forrester dissenting, the Board voted to fire 17 teachers who had protested their expulsion before a hearing officer from the State Department of General Services.

Mrs. Forrester said she registered the lone "no" vote because it was her feeling the district "for years has wanted to have smaller class sizes." She felt this was an opportunity to effect much classes and stay within the district's budget.

But superintendent Frank Greenwood said the district suffered some staggering financial setbacks last year and had to go to deficit spending. The loss totalled some $285,000, he said.

This year his administration presented the Board with a balanced budget, Greenwood reminded the trustees.

Greenwood's prediction, while not totally pessimistic, noted that all the money expected next year from various sources would be less per child than that spent this year.

Forrester argued that the Administration could perhaps cut spending in other areas and keep teachers on the job.

The second action called for the Board to dismiss seven other teachers who had not asked for a hearing.

On this matter, trustee Forrester abstained from voting, standing on her contention the district could operate within a balanced budget without firing teachers.

Greenwood had been given authorization to fire up to 30 teachers to bring the budget into line some months ago.

He said it was his hope that those teachers on leaves of ab-

A. Aiello on the subject of distribution of Gideon Bibles.

Burdett had asked District Attorney Keith Sorenson's office "Is it legal for the Board to grant permission to the Gideon's Association to distribute the New Testament?"

Aiello answered: "Your Board may not grant permission to the Gideons Association to distribute the New Testament on the campuses of the schools in your district."

It is alright, according to the earlier opinion, to have such a Bible available within a classroom "where the presence of the book is necessary or desirable in connection with secular classroom discussion."

And it is legal to have the Gideon Bible available in the school library, the district was informed.

Aiello's three-page opinion was stuffed with legal precedents — from the State Attorney General (Op., 316, 1955) which noted the Gideon Bible could not be distributed through the public school system, to the Supreme Court of the State of New Jersey which held that the Gideon Bible was a sectarian book and that it could not be distributed through the school system because this would violate the First Amendment to the Constitution.

Said the District Attorney's opinion "Our research has disclosed no case which would allow the distribution of the Gideon Bible, or any other sectarian literature on a public school campus."

In addition to a refusal by the U.S. Supreme Court to take the dispute up, there have been two ence would submit their resignations in order to provide jobs for as many of the probationary teachers as possible.

However, the list of those leaving the district was far smaller than Greenwood had hoped for and termination notices were sent out to the 24 teachers.

On April 23, 1973 Hearing Officer George R. Coan listened to arguments on both sides — those 17 teachers opposing the administration's recommendation and the district's contention the certificated employees must be terminated for the welfare of the district.

2 Man Team Wages Drug War in D.C.

Daly City's newest weapon launched against illegal drugs and suppliers — detectives John Kirby and Roger Austin — is causing more than mild ripples in drug circles.

The two-man team has been confiscating an average of $2000 in illegal drugs a week.

"That's $2,000 worth of drugs that won't fall into the hands of kids," Sergeant John Kolbman, head of the city's detective bureau, explains.

The latest arrests of three recently discharged U.S. Navy seamen netted the team 245 marijuana plants in various stages of growth.

"It was a regular marijuana nursery these guys had going," Kolbman said.

Arrested earlier this week at their Midway Village home, 23 Battleship Road, was Michael Mueller, 22; Robert Lewis, 23, and Patrick Macomber, 21.

The raid on the trio's home came after consultations with U.S. Naval Intelligence, it was learned.

Kolbman said the drug crackdown has also shown some "peripheral benefits by bringing down the crime rate in the city."

Badge, Card Fail to Stop D.C. Arrest

Henry Charles Becker's badge and identification card failed to prevent his arrest by San Bruno police early Friday.

Becker, 59, of 71 Westdale Avenue, Daly City, was booked for drunken driving at about 1 a.m.

According to the police report, the car he was driving was swerving badly, from left to right and back again on Sneath Lane near Cherry Avenue.

Police said that when Becker was stopped and asked for his license he responded with "What the (bleep) you stopping me for? I'm following a push-up."

At that point, according to police, Becker flashed a small seven-point star engraved "San Mateo County Special Deputy Sheriff" with accompanying I.D. card. The card expired in 1971. But, police said the 1971 was changed to a 1974 "with a pencil of some sort."

According to police, the odor of alcohol was prevalent and Becker failed a roadside sobriety test. He was taken to the police station despite a "How about a little courtesy to a fellow cop?" plea.

At the station, police said he was read his rights and said, "I know all that." But asked if he understood them he reportedly said, "No." Police said the County Sheriff's Department picked up the badge and identification card.

Becker was released on $480 bail, police said.

S.S.F. Project Wins Approval

A spirited defense by South San Francisco Planner Daniel Pass helped bring about passage by a 5-1 vote last night of the final map of the Braewood-Westborough Condominium Project No. 2.

This map represented the re-division of 57 lots into a 124-unit condominium project.

"I thought I would get over the shock," Planning Commission member Wesley Slade commented. "But every time I see one of these maps, it really hits me."

He expressed concern over the seeming lack of on-street parking and the number of youngsters in school.

"In the junior high," he added, "it is getting so crowded that they are thinking of having double session lunch periods."

He also commented on the lack of medical facilities in the area.

"How do you hit the brakes with future planning of this type?" asked commissioner Homer V. Hale.

Pass noted that the commissioners had previously approved maps on this and an adjacent planned community district which provided the best common greens in Westborough and the largest parking enclaves.

Actually, the project represented a "down-zoning" from a fourplex area to a townhouse area.

Instead of the apartments he was entitled to put in, Pass said, the developer willingly cut the density from 295 units to 124.

"The resident will now be able to own his own condominium. If there is no medical center, he added, it is not because the planners have not provided the zoning for it."

The original population figure of 18,000, he said, has not risen. He admitted that the San Andreas fault line was also a factor causing much larger greens than anticipated. The project is bounded by Carter Drive, Heath Drive, Duhallo Way and Kilconway Lane.

Slade withdrew his objections to the particular project but stressed that he was still concerned over Westborough's increasing density, school and traffic problems.

Slade also tried to hold up approval of a proposal by the county to auction off a surplus apartment-zoned lot on the south side of Grand Avenue, between Willow Avenue and Forest View Drive. He expressed the hope that after the May 22 election, the city council would be able to function once more, plan for the city's future, and examine the possibility of using the lot for a much-needed tot lot or minipark.

Special education students at Jeff also take numerous field trips during the course of the year including recent trips to television station KPXX, to the San Francisco Hall of Justice and to a Bay Area Rapid Transit station.

The instructor claims many of the things that are done in the class could not be accomplished with only one teacher. He says the extensive counseling would be impossible noting that the program presently is "one of the best in the Bay Area in terms of job placement and vocational success."

Gonella and the class instructors met with parents of the students Monday evening to discuss the possible release of one staff member.

Skating Rink Appeal Expected

An appeal from the denial of a skating rink for the Pedro Point area of Pacifica is expected to be filed at any time.

The rink was turned down Monday by the Pacifica Planning Commission following a series of controversial hearings, in which petitions by school children, an appeal by Chamber and other civic groups backing the rink failed to induce the planners to approve the proposal.

Forms for filing the appeal were issued Thursday. The appeal is expected to be considered by the City Council at the June 11 or June 25 meeting.

It took the vote of Planning Chairman Brad Pringle to break the tie and deny the use permit and variance requested by Edward Heimann and B. Longo for the rink. At a previous meeting, when Pringle was absent, action on the rink floundered on a 3-3 vote.

The majority heeded the staff recommendations for denial on the basis that the gap between the 160 required parking spaces and the 43 spaces offered was too great. In addition the proposed building would occupy over half the area of the site, with most of the remaining site to be in pavement.

While Jim Miller conceded that while a skating rink would not necessarily require all that parking, he could not conceive of what other use the building could be put to — should the rink ever go out of business — without causing a severe parking problem.

The planners continued to their June 4 meeting approval of a plan filed by Clyde A. Sargent in behalf of Hillside Builders Inc. for construction of nine single-family homes on Beaumont Boulevard and one Gordon Way in Fairmont.

The planners expressed doubt in particular about five of the homes, described as modular, or factory-built homes. All identical — they will be going up on custom-built foundations. Sargent is planning to attend the May 16 study session to work out some kind of a meeting of the minds.

Another problem cited was that according to proposed plans, some of the driveways proposed would be so short that the car would overhang the sidewalk.

Planners gave their approval to establishment and maintenance of four model townhomes and a sales office to Klingbeil Co. for the 110-unit Park Castas, on Oddstad Boulevard, and granted an extension of a use permit for Levitt and Sons for a sales office in Elk Court in Park Pacifica. In both cases, however, they turned down requests for off-site signs on the Coast Highway.

$11,000 Fire In South SF

A home in South San Francisco was hit by a fire Saturday afternoon that inflicted more than $11,000 damage before firemen brought it under control.

The attached large double-car garage of the home of Lola Geary, 764 Cottonwood Drive, was totally destroyed. The kitchen and the roof area above the kitchen were also severely damaged.

A flaming 1969 car, parked in the garage, was pushed out by firemen when its leaking gasoline kept feeding flames. It was totally destroyed.

The fire was kept from the kitchen by the solid core door, firemen say, which was severely scorched but remained intact.

According to firemen, Mrs. Geary's son, Pat, had parked his car and gone to his room to watch television. When the set suddenly went off, Pat went to investigate, and discovered the fire. Investigators said the fire may have been caused by faulty electrical wiring.

Also destroyed in the flames were other contents of the garage, including the heating system, washer and dryer.

Color TV Swindle in San Bruno

The old "pigeon drop" swindle has entered the modern electronic age.

Yesterday, San Bruno police began investigation of a case revolving around the disappearance of $10,000 and how a film flam man "sold" five east bay men color television sets at a bargain.

The only trouble was: The money put up by the five victims — all employees of the same company — was real, but the television sets were not.

Here's how the scheme worked.

One of the victims received a phone call informing him that a few color television sets were available at a Tanforan Department store for $200 each. For another $100 the dealer would throw in a portable black and white set.

The offer was also good for any of the first victim's fellow employees, the caller said.

After receiving some $1,000 from his fellow workers, the victim and a fellow employee left for Tanforan they were to meet a man named "Pete."

Pete was waiting.

After instructing the nameless victim to lower the tailgate of his station wagon "and wait here" the con man took the other victim with him to a nearby parking lot where the money was handed over.

This second victim was told to wait outside the door while the "dealer" went inside to get the sets.

Some time later it became apparent to both victims, neither the sets nor "Pete" were coming back to the parking lot.

Boys Arrested

Two 14-year-old boys were arrested by Daly City police Tuesday night on a charge of burglarizing the home of Herbert Egnel of Beechwood Drive. They were also charged with possession of a prohibited weapon.

Baywood spokesmen reiterated their opposition to location of the continuation school at St. Bartholomew's, at Columbia Drive and Alameda de las Pulgas, but asked that, if the lease agreement were reaffirmed, the district conduct a "positive program of cooperation and interaction with the Baywood community"—including Baywood representation on a "broadly based citizens' committee to assist the school administration to find the right permanent site for Peninsula High School."

Trustee Norman W. Kavanaugh and Board President John Linn assured them the Board shared the desire for cooperation with the community, and Dr. Linn noted that such a policy had been followed in dealing with all the other seven schools in the district.

Near the end of the almost two-hour hearing, Robert M. Desky, Association president, said he still had not "heard a satisfactory expression of your commitment to work with our community." Trustee Chalmers replied that he lived only a block and a half from the school and could be a "liaison" between the Board and the community. "I feel a deep and personal responsibility that the school will be run correctly," he said. "I'll be the first to demand correction of what I think is wrong. I guarantee you my personal commitment."

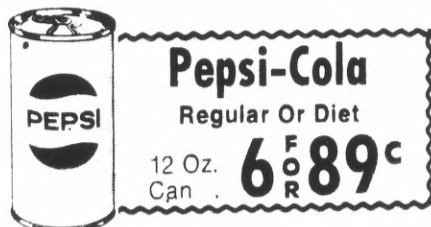

Trustee Evelyn Grant remarked: "We're already committed—to the young people, to our total district, to the state; we operate under law... I don't see how you can ask a Board to give any special commitment... I can only say, bring your concerns to the school."

Trustee John B. McCloskey, Jr. said he had listened to all the statements of the audience and Board members, and "We will continue to do the things as a Board that it is necessary to do to keep any school operating properly and to hear citizens. No single Board member demands anything. We act as a Board. Any demands that are made will be made of the Board. You put us here and you can put us out."

Baywood speakers urged use of the Marina High site in Foster City as Peninsula's temporary location, pending Marina's construction there, or perma-

Pacifica May Charge for Beach Use

Pacifica city councilmen are thinking of charging out-of-town-ers for the use of their 6 1/2 miles of beaches and shoreline.

"No one in the state of California wants to help pay for these beaches," Councilman Stan Farber complained at Monday night's council meeting. "So let the rest of the state help pay for their use, so that we can buy them ourselves and turn them into public property. . . . Let them pay through the nose, like we are for Proposition 20."

In response to the councilmen's direction, City Manager David Thompson Tuesday began writing letters to the owners of shoreline property in Pacifica to explore the possibility of leasing their properties — hopefully at a dollar a year — so that the city could bring the properties under its jurisdiction. The city could then seek ways of raising revenues from the land.

The council had two letters before them — from Sacramento and from Washington — denying requests for aid for Pacifica's shoreline.

A letter from William Penn Mott Jr., director of the State Department of Parks and Recreation, reiterated his position that Pacifica's beaches are not good enough for state acquisition.

He described Pacifica's main beach, Linda Mar Beach, as too small, and primarily for urban recreation.

"Acquisition of this area by the state would financially reduce the possibility of acquiring those areas better related to overall recreation," he wrote.

He noted that he did not know how much of the state's $800 million in surplus funds would be allotted to his department. If none, then he would have to depend upon a 1974 bond election.

"Even then, the acquisition of any beach property in San Mateo County would have to be evaluated against the properties to be acquired on a statewide basis. At present, this zone of the coastline is definitely lower in our priorities than sections of southern California.

A letter from Col. J. L. Lamie, Army Corps district engineer in San Francisco, reports on the outcome of the meeting of Army Corps officials with the then Mayor Grace McCarthy, Councilman Harland Minshew and City Manager David J. Thompson.

"Unfortunately," he reports, "we were unable to offer any possible assistance at this time toward the immediate needs of protecting the city's shoreline. . . . The Corps . . . has no emergency authority under which to construct new shoreline protection features or to repair existing structures."

The Pacifica officials were requesting special aid for the erosion problems created by the unusually severe storm season this past winter, resulting in unprecedented erosion, threatening numerous private homes, as well as the Dahlberg Trailer Park.

The only hope he could offer was in the form of four bills now in Congress, to give the Corps emergency authority.

The Pacifica Beach Erosion Study, he said, is now before the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors for its decision.

A letter from Wayne Angin, president of the Ocean Park Manor Homeowners Assn., cited 12 homes now being threatened by erosion of their backyards. He called upon the council to "do something now, before something serious happens, to protect our Pacifica coastline from being undercut by surf, tide and rains."

In another action, the councilmen passed a resolution joining with Half Moon Bay in asking the Legislature to provide a subsidy for all cities and other taxing agencies located within the coastal zone.

They pointed out that such cities as Pacifica have higher expenses because of visitors to their beaches. Yet, the Coastal Conservation Act (Proposition 20) resulted in a cut in the assessed valuation of coastal properties.

They cited the statewide vote for the proposition as showing that the people of California feel they have a special interest in the coast. They should thus "be afforded the opportunity of sharing in the cost of coastal preservation and maintenance for their pleasure, through a statewide tax subsidy to the governmental agencies within the coastal zone."

Farber suggested charging out-of-town motorists for parking at the beaches, "something stiff, like $2, $3 or even $5."

Mayor Aubrey Lumley reminded him that a large part of the area now used is illegal for parking.

"Then let's start busting some parkers," he retorted.

Girl Slashed On DC Street

Daily City police are seeking a 30-year-old man they claim chased a screaming girl down a residential street near the Skyline Plaza Shopping Center at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday.

According to police, the girl, age 18, was returning home from shopping when she was accosted by the man. After a brief conversation, he grabbed her from the rear and tried to drag her into an alleyway. She broke away and ran up the street, but he caught up to her and slashed her on her arm with a knife.

The girl finally got away again. She was treated at a local hospital for the knife wounds.

According to police, who are conducting an intensive investigation to seek out the suspect, the man was black, about 30 years old, 5 foot six, 160 pounds.

GIRL SCOUTING

Girl Scout Awards to Be Given May 22

What happens to Girl Scout troops in the summer? Like old soldiers, do they just "fade-away"? Or, do they form new, exciting units, which meet for two weeks, one week or day-time-only camping experiences?

As family camping increases in popularity, parents tend to think of Scout camping as unnecessary. But Scouting is a unique relationship between trained adults and groups of girls and/or boys, according to Daly City Camping Coordinator Mrs. David Dale.

In Northern San Mateo County, adult leaders have met for months to plan special opportunities for Scouts and non-Scouts. Here's a round-up of what's available, as a special service of this newspaper:

BRISBANE's Mrs. Virginia Hubbell will direct eight sessions of "Serendipity" in Marin County starting June 25 and ending August 11 for $50.00 per week.

Information through the Girl Scout Brisbane offices at 58 Cypress Lane, 467-3330 will also explain special events at Deer Lake and Treasure Mountain.

PACIFICA's Mrs. Fern Dahlin will direct the Puget Sound Sailing School in July from Seattle to Victoria, B.C., for girls in Junior and Senior High.

Advanced opportunities for this age group also include sailing to Catalina, Rogue River Rafting, snow camping, horse-back-riding in the Cascades, bike trips in Arizona and the famous boat run of Idaho's Salmon River.

All the preceding are Council-sponsored trips, approved by the American Camping Association, with information available locally from the Brisbane Scout office.

CAMPING opportunities open to girls, Scouts and non-Scouts, only in the Northern San Mateo County area are planned and staffed entirely by volunteers to keep costs at a minimum.

To provide a positive out-of-doors experience to girls so they can enjoy and learn to conserve the natural resources of their country, Scouting will always emphasize camping, according to Miss Katie Vaill, South San Francisco-San Bruno Day Camp Committee Chairman.

EXPLORE THE SIERRA's with local leadership. At Camp Sugar Pine, just above Angel's camp, in the heart of Calaveras County of "Jumping Frog" fame, two camps are planned: SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO's Adventure Camp at Sugar Pine, for present 4th graders and above, August 13-22, will cost $59.00 for ten days without horseback riding, $71.00 with horses.

A special six-day back-pack trip is planned. Register with Loretta Aydtlett, 256 San Felipe, South San Francisco, 94080 with a $10.00 deposit.

DALY CITY's SIERRA Camp, also at Sugar Pine, July 15-21, for present 3rd graders and above (7th graders may apply as Cadettes) at $42.50 for the week. Register with Mrs. Donna Barnes at 99 Westbrook in Daly City.

DAY CAMPS are welcomed by many parents for the child's first camping experience and all Northern San Mateo County events are planned for Junipero Serra Park in San Bruno.

Girls and adults camp during the day with overnights planned for the end of the sessions. Basic camping skills and individual instruction is stressed.

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO and San Bruno Associations plan two sessions, June 18 to 26 and July 30 to August 9, with archery, outdoor crafts, folk dancing, drama and leather crafts.

Fee for girls aged 7 to 17 is $8.00 for each session; register with Mrs. Paul Kilgor, 543 Fifth Avenue, San Bruno 94066.

SAIL TO THE SOUTH SEAS, from August 6-9 and 13-16 with the Daly City Girl Scout Day Camp, for girls who have completed the 2nd grade and above. Register with Mrs. Edward Figone, 327 Higate in Daly City — $5.00 for Brownies, $7.00 for Juniors and Cadettes.

To camp with a special group of people — those devoted to enriching the lives of girls as well as their own community, try GIRL SCOUT CAMPING.

MRS. HILDA HEAGNEY, long-time Daly City Girl Scout leader, will receive her 30 year pin at the May 22 Awards Luncheon scheduled for Vincenzo's Grotto from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Twenty-five-year pins will be presented to Mesdames Margaret Damon and Susan Bacon by girls of Mariner Scout Ship No. 13.

Mrs. Mary Ann Dale will receive her 15 year membership pin and Mesdames Isabel Hildick, Annette Ascutt, Virginia Tufts and Miss Carolyn Manbert will receive 10 year pins.

GIRL SCOUTING — Another name for Caring will be the theme of the luncheon as Al Schwarzbach, newly-appointed Girl Scout Council Board of Directors member, speaks on "Caring".

BROWNIE GIRL Scout troop No. 1704 members (with rakes) Alice Plicheik, (with shovel) Holly Andrews, and (with bucket) Diane Kemp, are digging clam shells for decorations for the May 22 Adult Awards Luncheon scheduled for 11 a.m. at Vincenzo's Grotto in Colma.

Families interested in learning more about this opportunity to get to know our neighbors across the Pacific are asked to call Elizabeth Johnson in San Francisco. Her phone number is 566-5485 and she is anxious to tell you more about this interesting plan.

NELL NORTON

Good morning, good cooks.

Since strawberries are becoming more and more plentiful, now is the time to feature some strawberry recipes.

This first pie is rich and delicious with the topping of glazed whole strawberries.

STRAWBERRY CHEESE PIE

- 1 8-oz. pkg. cream cheese
- 3 Tablespoons evaporated milk
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 boxes strawberries
- 1 cup red currant jelly
- 1 Tablespoon cherry liqueur, optional
- Baked 9-inch pastry shell

Have the eight ounces cream cheese at room temperature. In a medium mixing bowl beat the cream cheese with the three tablespoons evaporated milk, two teaspoons lemon juice and one tablespoon sugar. Spread in bottom of baked pie shell and chill.

Wash, remove stems and dry the strawberries. (I placed the strawberries on paper towels and patted them dry with paper towels.) Arrange the strawberries over the cheese filling, stem ends down. Return to refrigerator while you make the glaze.

Melt the one cup currant jelly over low heat, stirring as it melts. Stir in the one tablespoon liqueur. (The liqueur adds an interesting taste to the pie, but isn't necessary for a tasty pie.) Allow the jelly to cool until warm and spoon it over the strawberries. Chill for about 6 hours.

Still another way of serving strawberries is this pie using gelatin as a part of the filling.

STRAWBERRY PIE

- 1 package strawberry gelatin
- 2 Tablespoons sugar (optional)
- 1 cup boiling water
- 1 cup cold water
- 1 1/2 cups strawberries, halved
- One baked 8-inch pie shell

Dissolve the package gelatin and the two tablespoons sugar in the one cup boiling water. Stir in the one cup cold water. Chill until very thick. Fold in the one and one-half cups strawberries. Pour into cooled pie shell. Chill until firm. Garnish with whipped cream.

Of course, the easiest dessert is fresh strawberries and cream. These cookies go nicely with it.

SESAME CIRCLE COOKIES

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/4 cup shortening
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 egg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/4 cup sesame seeds

Sift together the two cups sifted flour, fourth teaspoon salt. Cream the half cup butter, fourth cup shortening, add one cup sugar, creaming well. Add the one egg, one teaspoon vanilla and beat well.

Add dry ingredients, mix thoroughly, shape into balls using a rounded teaspoon dough for each. Dip tops into the fourth cup sesame seeds. Place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake in 375-degree oven 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 4 dozen.

coln Walter, Mrs. Alvin Schwarzbach, Mrs. Hubert Sanefur, Mrs. Richard Cecconi and Barbara Schnapp. A bit of extra help came from Mrs. Al Pilliod of North Carolina who happened to be in town to visiting her mother, Mrs. Jovick, and the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Tierney, Janice and Judith, both students at Westmoor high school.

While F. Lincoln Walter served champagne, Dr. John E. Connolly, chairman of the fund raising committee and his committee members, Mrs. William Bagnall, Albert Teglia and Tierney, received the guests.

Members of the Serramonte String Orchestra, under the direction of Janet Gaynor, did their bit for the fund raising campaign by providing a musical program. During the intermissions Frank Markovich strolled among the guests playing his guitar and Sean Hyland of Jefferson high worked as the official photographer, to record the happening of the afternoon. George Brooke and Bill Koska also attended with cameras in hand to snap a variety of pictures during the program.

DR. CONNOLLY opened the program and official greetings from the Friends of the Library were extended by Mrs. Tierney, the unit president. City Librarian Sam Chandler and Library Board trustee Richard Silver presented the plans for the future library.

On hand to learn more about the exciting plans were Mayor Tony Giammona and Councilmen Bud Lyett, Victor Kyriakis and McRobert Stewart. Mrs. Sarah Kelechava and Mrs. Anna Marie Horta of the library board of trustees were present.

Anyone interested in learning more about the new library to be built in the civic center complex is urged to call Dr. Connolly by writing to him at 275 Southgate avenue in Daly City.

THE MARY'S HELP Hospital Guild will install new officers following a 9 a.m. mass on Friday. The Daughters of Charity will host a breakfast for the new board and members of the retiring executive board following the installation rites.

D.C. Community Band Schedules Concert

After several months of intensive rehearsals with the Daly City Community Band conductor Henry C. Niebolt has announced that May 25 will be the next concert performance. Soloists will be Earl Friend and Ed Thomas, trumpets, and Bill Novales, piano.

Novales will be featured with the band in a rendition of George Gershwin's popular jazz classic, Rhapsody in Blue. Trumpet soloists Friends and Thomas will perform, respectively, Londondary Air and Come Back to Sorrento by De Curtis.

The Community Band will perform a group of concert numbers which will include Sound of Music by Rodgers, Sabre Dance by Khatchaturian, and the overture to the Broadway hit, Irene. Other music on the program will be Darktown Strutter's Ball, Big Time Boogie and Espana Waltz by Walteufel.

The public is invited to attend the concert at the Little Theater of Serramonte High School, beginning at 8 p.m.

Children's Choir at Services

Sabbath Services at Congregation B'nai Israel will be held on Friday beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Rabbi Sheldon Edwards and Cantor Henry Greenberg will conduct the services to be augmented by the newly organized Children's Choir.

The choir is composed of children of the Sunday school directed by Cantor Greenberg. Rabbi Edwards has selected "Welcome, Little Ones" as his sermon topic for the evening.

Sabbath Services on Saturday will begin at 10 a.m. where "A Pause for the Countdown" will be delivered by Rabbi Edwards.

May 19, "Desk Set" will be presented by the Drama Department of Skyline College under the auspices of the Sisterhood of Congregation B'nai Israel. The proceeds of this event will benefit the Beatrice Friedman Memorial Scholarship Fund wherein deserving college-age students of the Congregation are financially assisted by the Fund.

Beatrice Friedman, late wife of Bernard Friedman, was a past president of the Sisterhood. Tickets at $2.50 for adults and $1.50 for children under 18 may be obtained from the Temple office, 756-5430 or by calling the chairman of the event, Mrs. Myron Tessler at 589-8991.

The semi-annual membership meeting will be held May 22 at 8:30 p.m. at the Templehouse. President A. Arthur Hirschhorn will conduct the meeting that will feature reports of the last 6 months by the various officers and Trustees.

Highlight of the evening will be the election of officers for the year beginning July 1.

Chairman of the Nominating Committee, Mrs. Thomas Abbott, will present the following slate of officers for election:

President, A. Arthur Hirschhorn; first vice president, George Billick; second vice president, George Ehrlich; third vice president, Leonard Mayer; recording secretary, Mrs. Thomas Abbott; treasurer, Arthur LaPiedis; and trustees, Henry Fuhs, Milton Potak, Robert Sorkin and Norman Stone.

President Hirschhorn has appointed Mrs. Morton Dobrow to head the committee which will present a Black and White Ball June 9 in honor of Rabbi Sheldon Edwards as he celebrates his first anniversary with the Congregation.

Freeway Projects Lagging

It probably will be at least 1977 before any construction is started on the Devil's Slide bypass, and at least 1980 before there is any start on cross-county freeways from Junipero Serra Freeway to the Coastside.

That was the message Tuesday to the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors from Burch Bachold, assistant district engineer for the State Division of Highways.

In reply to a question from Board Chairman Robert St. Clair, the state official stated that construction of the Devil's Slide project would be under way today if it were not for "all the legal roadblocks" which have resulted in court actions halting the program.

Although a contract was ready to be let for a project which would include widening of Cabrillo Highway from Devil's Slide to the north edge of Half Moon Bay, a taxpayers' suit has blocked the program, and it probably will be late in this decade before any work is done, Bachold stated.

He noted, in reply to a question from Supervisor Jean Fassler, that maintenance cost for the Devil's Slide area is high, "but not excessive," although the section of highway has slipped and sunk a total of 20 feet during the past five years.

It probably will be into the 1980s before any construction is begun on the proposed extension of Highway 92 (San Mateo-Half Moon Bay Road) to freeway specifications from Junipero Serra Freeway west.

Bachold reported that the estimated cost of the project, as originally planned, is $45 million. However, with a current proposal to widen the existing causeway, at Crystal Springs reservoir, rather than build a high-level bridge, the cost can be reduced to $25 million.

Widening of the causeway, originally considered as not feasible, has been re-evaluated and it has been determined that it can be done without polluting the reservoir, the state official reported.

Proposed routing of the four-lane freeway, with grading and excavation for an eventual six-lane route, is south of the present two-lane highway over the hills.

However, Bachold said, because of environmental reporting factors, the new freeway proposal is in danger of falling out of the current 10-year plan for new construction.

This elicited a comment from Cecil J. Marmont, mayor of Half Moon Bay, that an improved roadway along the route had been a part of a 10-year plan since 1934, "and we haven't gotten it yet."

Supervisor Gerald F. Day inquired as to the status of the present routing.

Bachold replied that it had been considered to construct passing lanes from Junipero Serra to Skyline Boulevard, at a cost of $1 million. However, he stated, it was determined that benefits would be so minimal and the disruption to traffic so maximum that the project is not worth the effort.

Although extension of the San Bruno Freeway (Route 380) is a desirable project, it, too, is a long way off, Bachold said.

Among the considerations for extending the freeway to the coast is drilling of a tunnel under Sweeney Ridge, a quite expensive undertaking, the official stated.

Environmental impact statements are under preparation for all three freeway proposals. Bachold said that the statement for Freeway 380 should be completed this coming fall, with public hearings possible by next spring.

In the case of the Devil's Slide bypass and an extension of Freeway 92, environmental impact statements will not be completed until the fall of 1975, with public hearings to be held in the spring of 1976.

All indications are that it will be at least 1977 before work can start on the Devil's Slide bypass, and into the 1980s before any construction is done on the other proposed routes, Bachold said.

He was asked by Mrs. Fassler if the prospect of gas rationing would cut back the urgent need of freeways.

Bachold replied that, since a majority of funding for freeway construction comes from gas tax income, it would necessarily be a "two-way road."

Introducing

BEEF PLUS can be used just like ground beef... In 'burgers, meat loaf, spaghetti sauce... in every ground beef dish, plain or fancy. We invite you to try BEEF PLUS with our money-back guarantee of satisfaction.

BEEF PLUS can save you money in two ways... It costs less per pound than ground beef. It holds meat juices better in cooking and so makes plumper patties, hamburgers and Salisbury steaks.

Serving Suggestion

BEEF PLUS BRAND

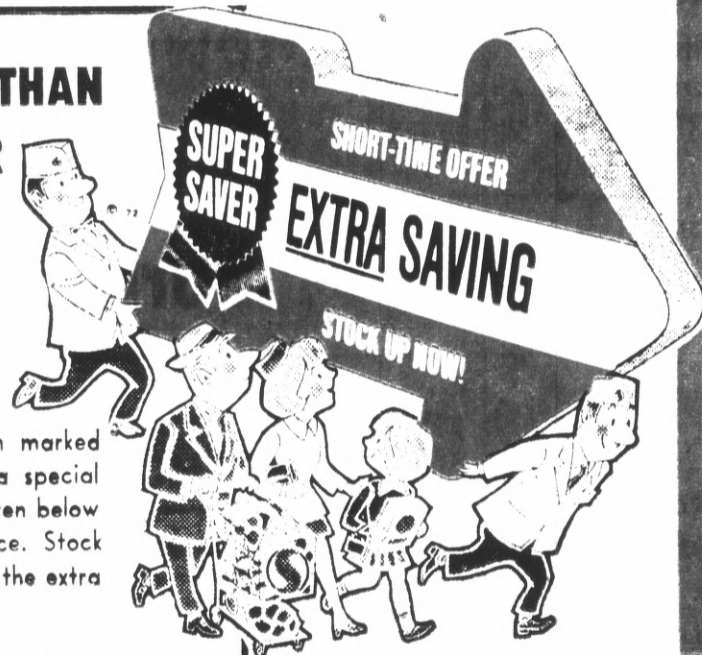

BEEF PATTY MIX...A BLEND OF BEEF &amp; TEXTURED VEGETABLE PROTEIN

BEEF PLUS is a wonderful new Patty Mix being offered in Safeway Meat Departments. It's a blend of about 3/4 Safeway ground beef and about 1/4 hydrated textured vegetable protein which is delicious, nutritious and lower in cost than ground beef. It is high in protein, closely matching ground beef in this important characteristic. Many people who have tried BEEF PLUS say that it tastes better than ground beef. The vegetable protein in BEEF PLUS absorbs and holds much of the meat flavor and many of the juices which are usually cooked out of ground beef.

Serramonte High-lites

THE ADVANCED MECHANICAL drawing class is now known as Serramonte Technological Production, Inc. Under the direction of instructor Jerry Maxwell, the corporate entity was set up to operate for the balance of the school year.

Maxwell says that students operating their own corporation and making their own decisions, and sometimes mistakes, is an excellent method of teaching students what the "real" business world is all about.

The corporation is set up with officers and three operating divisions.

Bud Barone is chief program engineer, assisted by Joe Ciampi and Devendra Deo, with Mike Orloff as corporate secretary.

Operating division heads are David Penney, design; David Wong, drafting; and Kirk Lindstrom, engineering.

Projects for the corporation come from Maxwell and are listed on the bid board. The usual progression of work is from design to drafting and finally to engineering.

The design department studies the project with detailed drawings, which the drafting department uses to make blueprints.

Finally, the engineering department prepares cost analysis sheets of the project along with a scale model.

Some current projects are a gazebo, a cover for the blueprint machine, a paper towel holder, sign making, and recently completed was the conversion of a kitchen clock into a clock showing the "mod" under Serramonte High's modular schedule.

All of the complications that plague big business are part of the corporation at Serramonte, for there was a work slowdown last week as two students were trying to organize a union, and inefficient workers have been fired.

APRIL 28th is a date not to be forgotten soon by the students and parents helping staff the CMEA Band and Orchestra Festival held at the school.

Those attending the festival heaped praise on Serramonte's music teacher Jan Gaynor for her job organizing and directing. Miss Gaynor shared her credit with the more than 100 people who aided her in setting up and staffing the school.

The Serramonte High plant received many compliments

Serramonte High Study Sessions on Trade Set Multi-Ethnic Day

Multi-Ethnic Day is being celebrated at Serramonte High School Thursday. Booths will be set up in the mall with displays from the various cultures represented in the student body.

A multi-ethnic pot luck dinner for all the Serramonte families is being planned for 6:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of the school. Families attending are asked to bring food which is typical of their ethnic background.

Arrangements for the day's event are under the guidance of the Human Relations Council with Elaine Amutuana and Fred Naranjo acting as co-chairmen. Each family is to be contacted by the committee, but if contact is not made, all Serramonte High School families are invited to attend.

Study sessions on Trade are scheduled by the League of Women Voters in conjunction with World Trade Week in May.

The meetings will be held in Daly City on May 22 at St. Martin's Episcopal Church at 9:30 a.m. in Pacifica on May 23, at St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church also at 9:30 a.m., and in San Bruno on May 24, at St. Thomas Lutheran Church, 9:30 a.m. An evening group will be held on May 24 at the home of Joan Neff, 90 Clearview, Daly City.

"The League of Women Voters believes that a liberal U.S.

trade policy will best serve political and economic interest of the country," said Mrs. Jackie Jacobberger, North County League president. "It may prove the way for political harmony with other nations; stimulate growth at home and abroad and expand opportunities for consumer choice."

The League is now reviewing and updating its trade position on a nation-wide consensus of its membership.

Transportation and babysitting arrangements can be made through the League office, (355-4408).

Final Meeting of the Year

Installation of officers dinner for Xi Lambda Sigma Exemplar chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was Tuesday and the final meeting of the year will be at the home of incoming president Mrs. Frantz Cox, Pacifica, at 8 p. m., May 21.

Historian Mrs. Cox will read her report of events of the past year and last year's historian.

Mrs. Dominic Cola will read earlier reports for the benefit of new members.

At the recent Founders Day banquet, Mrs. Daniel O'Connell was named the chapter's "Girl of the Year," an honor awarded to a member who most exemplifies the high ideals and aims of the sorority.

Plain Talk

... ABOUT LUCKY-TRIM MEATS

The way meat is trimmed of excess fat and bone is more important than the price per pound. For example, the chine bone, gristle and excess fat in an ordinary Standing Rib Roast can add up to 14 per cent of its total weight... that's 14 per cent of the roast you can't eat!

In plain figures, there can be as much as 70 cents worth of waste in a $5.00 roast... waste that Lucky demands be trimmed away BEFORE the cut of meat is weighed and wrapped. And with T-Bone Steaks, the excess fat and tough tail end of the steak can add 4 ounces of weight... and a proportionate amount to the price you pay for it. But again... NOT at Lucky. These are carefully trimmed away before you buy your steak.

In Pacifica

A house tour featuring interesting homes in five different areas of Pacifica will be offered by Sandcastles Chapter of the Children's Home Society Auxiliary, Sunday, 1-4 p.m.

Guests participating in the tour will leave from the Community Room of the Pacifica Library at Hilton Way and Palmetto Avenue.

An arts and crafts exhibit will be offered at the library by local artists and craftsmen, and refreshments will be served there.

Transportation will be provided from the library for those who do not wish to drive their own cars. Tickets are available from any Sand Castles member or from ticket chairman, Linda Matias, 355-1243.

Proceeds will benefit the Children's Home Society to aid in its services to children through adoption, counseling, foster care, and some of its new pilot projects.

Employees Gift Quizzed In South S.F.

Did the South San Francisco City Employees Union break the law when they gave $500 to the Terry Mirri campaign for city council?

The question was raised at Monday night's South San Francisco City Council meeting by local resident Dion Dubois. He demanded that the district attorney be asked to act on whether the contribution was illegal.

"I'd like you to act without haste to clear this up before the election in May," Dubois told council.

City Atty. John Noonan accused Dubois of making "vague charges." However, Dubois presented a copy of the ordinance which he felt verified his charge. Noonan, however, noted that the section could be superseded by a state law.

One councilman told Dubois that he can seek out the district attorney on his own. Councilman Frank Mammini, however, said that Noonan should do it at the direction of the Council.

"I would like the city council to do it," Dubois reiterated. Noonan this morning wrote a letter to the district attorney asking for an opinion, citing both the city ordinance and the state governmental code concerned with the question.

So far, Mirri was the only one of the 10 candidates to indicate in his statement on contributions due May 2, that over $500 had been collected for the campaign. John A. Marino, treasurer of his campaign committee, noted that $4958 had been contributed; $4258 from a fund-raising testimonial cocktail party on April 8; $200 from a car-wash, and $500 from the City Employees Union. Election day is May 22.

County Board Invites Bids For Sheriff

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors has thrown open the door for all citizens over the age of 18 who wish to apply for the position of sheriff being vacated by Earl B. Whitmore, who has announced he is retiring effective July 1.

In a statement yesterday, Board Chairman Robert St. Clair indicated that it will be after June 1 before someone is appointed to fill out the remainder of Whitmore's current term, which extends to January 1, 1975.

The statement notes that persons wishing to apply for the job may obtain application forms at the county manager's office and that the forms, along with personal resumes, must be returned by June 1.

The board went into a personnel session Tuesday just minutes after formally receiving and accepting Whitmore's official retirement notice.

St. Clair noted that the board considered potential appointees, coming to the conclusion that, in view of the importance of the position, "we should make every effort to seek the most qualified person for this job."

He stated that in screening applications, the board intends to "give preferential consideration to applicants with administrative experience in law enforcement." An undetermined number of persons will be selected for oral interview following review of the written applications, St. Clair reported. In announcing his retirement, Whitmore said that he personally feels that his two assistant sheriffs, Eugene E. Stewart and Macdonald U. Craik, are the only persons qualified to fill the position of sheriff.

District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson informed the board Tuesday that in the event it fails to make an appointment, the sheriff himself can appoint someone to fill out the term.

In addition to being a citizen 18 years of age or older, the person named to the position must be a resident of San Mateo County for at least 30 days prior to the effective date of appointment.

Bruno Inmate Dies in Cell

A 35-year-old inmate of the San Francisco County Jail near San Bruno was found dead in his cell Sunday.

Sheriff's deputies said Wong K. Hahn, a Chinese national, was found hanging by his neck from a crude rope.

Hahn had been a cook who was arrested and sentenced to one year for trying to strangle a young San Francisco woman last month. Immigration authorities were considering deporting him, a spokesman said.

Permit for Station, Paint for Garages?

Authorization for a new gas station may mean also a new paint job on the Shelter Creek Apartments carport roofs, and ventilators atop the San Bruno apartment buildings.

Commissioners on a 4-2 vote Monday night recommended for approval a request for a station at the southwest corner of Shelter Creek Lane and San Bruno Avenue.

Out of the stipulations was that an offer by Lewis W. Douglas, developer of Shelter Creek Apartments, be accepted, in which he would place funds in a trust account to insure the paint job.

In a letter to City Planner Jack Mulqueeney, Douglas noted that there has been considerable complaint and criticism of the color of the roof and ventilators.

He said he would like to oblige by painting them any color the city desired but was short of funds. However, approval of the use permit for a gas station would allow him to obtain the funds necessary to do the painting. The station site is the same occupied by a gas outlet prior to the freeway being built in the late 1960s. Assuming the City Council grants approval, the station will be a lease operation with Anthony Tuite as manager.

Tuite, who presently operates a station at Skyline and Sharp Park Road, had operated the old Shelter Creek station and said he desired to return to his old station site.

Commissioners Leon Miller and Henry Hein voted against the project. Commissioner Lynn Buxton was absent.

Hein said he objected to the grade level, saying he felt cars not properly braked may accidentally run loose down Shelter Creek Lane.

Miller said the request was "inconsistent" with the fact oil companies are expressing fears of fuel shortages. He also said such a company station would "hurt the independents."

Dick Rieber, retail property representative for Standard Oil Company of California, Western Operations, Inc., justified the new station by saying his firm was in the process of abandoning 53 stations from San Bruno to Paso Robles.

In other business the commissioners: Granted a grading permit for 2.8 acres on the south side of Sneath Lane about 400 feet southwest of the intersection of El Camino Real and Sneath Lane.

Approved a use permit for construction of a temporary savings and loan office at 1200

El Camino Real, on the north side of the street about 200 feet northwest of Sneath Lane. A permanent facility is planned within three years.

Authorized a permit for a retail doughnut shop at 602 and 604 San Mateo Ave.

Okayed an architectural review of site plans for a three-unit apartment complex at 927 Green Ave.

Continued until June 4 a public hearing on three parcels, generally located between and northwest of Skyline Boulevard and Sneath Lane, a request of the planning commission for rezoning from neighborhood commercial and multiple-residential to single-family residential.

Rezoned an irregular shaped parcel north and east of Goodwin Drive, west of Longview Drive and generally 100 feet south of the southerly right of way of College Drive, from planned development to single-family residential.

Bruno Merchants Drive To Boost Downtown Area

By BOB PETERSON

Petitions are being circulated on San Bruno's downtown San Mateo Avenue in an effort to establish an assessment district to create a fund for business promotions on that street.

Approximately a dozen merchants met Wednesday morning at the Junior Bottery, 544 San Mateo Ave., to take the first steps to create the non-profit San Bruno Downtown Association (SBDTA).

The group of businessmen, representing the three (400, 500 and 600) main blocks in the downtown area, needs to obtain signatures representing those who pay 50.1 per cent of the business license revenue for that segment of the street.

Assuming this task is completed and the proposal, after a public hearing, receives approval of the city council, retail businesses will be assessed $50 annually and non-retail businesses $25 annually for downtown promotion. An estimated $15,000 will be derived.

These fees will be an addition to the existing general business tax collected by the city. The assessment district is authorized under the Parking and Business Improvement Area Law of 1965, commonly referred to as AB-103.

Under this legislation, proceeds from an assessment district may be used for such things as:

Acquisition, construction or maintenance of parking facilities in the district.

Decoration of any public place in the district.

Promotion of public events which take place on or in public places in the district.

Furnishing music in any public place in the district.

General promotion of retail trade activities in the area.

According to the law, the city council has sole discretion as to how the revenue from the tax is to be used. However, a board of directors is usually elected from the district to make recommendations as to its use.

Mike Mace, chairing the meeting in his place of business, said such a board of directors would be created for the SBDA.

The council may also terminate the district if protest is made by businesses paying a majority of the business license tax in the district.

Opinion was split by the merchants attending the Wednesday morning session as to whether there would be any difficulty in obtaining the necessary signatures.

Harry Costa, operator of Custom Office Supply, 661 San Mateo Ave., said the petition probably would get "very little support" in the 600 block, mainly because there is not much retail business on that block.

Costa, however, agreed to pursue the signature seeking effort for the 600 block.

Floren Rhoads, operator of Rhoads Hardware, 434 San Mateo Ave., preferred to play the devil's advocate. "I don't think it will work," he said. "I don't think one in 10 will sign it on my block. I'm always a pessimist. But I'm willing to try," he added.

Al Race of Bank of America said he saw no problems.

Gene Gallagher of San Bruno Stationers, 435 San Mateo Ave., assumed the responsibility for pursuing signatures from the 400 block.

In the 500 block this duty will be shared by Ken Chapman of Chapman Youth Fashion Shoppe, 556 San Mateo Ave., and Mace, who also will assume follow-up in all three blocks.

According to Mace, the signatures are to be obtained within the next several weeks so that the proposal can be put to the council before the end of June when business licenses become due.

This assessment district effort is part of an over-all effort to upgrade the street and promote business activity to draw more retail merchants to the street.

Also in the works is another assessment district proposal, being pursued jointly with the city, to renovate the actual physical appearance of the street.

The merchants some time back also succeeded in passing a Central Business District ordinance that prohibits non-retail businesses on the ground floor facing the street. Whether this is being effective, or injurious, remains a matter for debate by some of the merchants.

Fire Causes Heavy Loss In Millbrae

Heat and smoke from a heating pad that caught on fire on the living room couch may have done nearly $20,000 damage to an apartment in Millbrae early Tuesday.

Millbrae Fire Department Inspector Edward Williams said the exact cost of damage is not known, but it involved a number of expensive furnishings and art works.

Apartment occupant Nancy Parker told Williams that her losses included a gold leaf Oriental wall hanging worth more than $10,000, and an ivory and jade decoration worth perhaps more, as well as numerous other expensive or antique furnishings.

Williams said the fire was reported at 3:23 a.m. when Miss Parker was awakened by smoke.

Coughing, she made her way through the dense smoke in her second-floor apartment at 219 Richmond Drive, and out the front door. She roused a neighbor, and he called firemen.

Fire Captain Ray Bianconi led a squad of eight men, which quickly extinguished the blaze.

Inspector Williams said the fire was confined to the living room area around the couch, apartment.

What's New?

What's new?

For the junior set there is a collection of eerie, supernatural stories with ghosts and strange events coloring every page.

The "Tale of the Weeping Lass at the Dancing Place" tells of a maiden who wept for her deceased lover until his ghost came and carried her away. Luckily she managed to escape but the specter held her shawl. Days later villagers found it protruding from the dead lover's grave.

"The Honest Ghost" tells how the spirit of an honest nobleman could not rest after the death of the man. Villagers found the ghost walking the roads carrying a large brass lamp. Finally the heir to the man's estate learned that his uncle had died before returning a lantern that he had borrowed from a minister. The heir returned the lantern, and the spirit of the honest old ghost went to its rest.

THERE ARE 12 such stories by Sorche Nic Lead-hus in "Great Black Cats and Other Eerie Scottish Tales." Each one is guaranteed to make reading a pleasure and send TV back to its tube.

But if eerie tales do not interest your young one, give him "Freaky Friday," the story that won first prize in the 1972 Children's Spring Festival: Book World for Mary Rogers, author of the scores for "Once Upon a Mattress" and "The Mad Show."

In "Freaky Friday," the spirits don't become ghosts, rather they change bodies; so after a fight the souls of 13-year-old Annabel Andres and her mother change bodies. Then poor Annabel sees her faults paraded before her eyes one by one. She learns what careless daughters do to a house and to a neighborhood, and how much it costs a father to keep his daughter out of juvenile hall and to send her to camp.

So "Freaky Friday" moves along until — onk! — every soul returns to its proper body and everyone is happy with the whole arrangement. Critics have hailed this story as "dear and funny and charming and full of true things."

"Deathwatch" is a novel of a different type. It has been called "a taut, stinging thriller with all the crazy believability of a nightmare." Two men — rich sportsman, Madec, and Ben, a college student — start on a trip to hunt bighorn sheep. Madec is a cold man who likes to hunt, and he is dangerous with a gun. Herein lies a tale that boys will enjoy if led to it.

IN THE NON-FICTION class there is Janet Randall's "To Save a Tree." Which is the story of California's Coast Redwoods. Some of the trees are so old they were seedlings 2,000 years ago. Some were living before the time of man or mammals.

The redwoods have fought for survival against great enemies, among them ice-caps, dinosaurs, volcanoes, and now, man, with the last being more deadly than all the others.

It is estimated that by now two-thirds of California's virgin redwood forests have already been cut down. Yet the movement to save the redwoods remains a constant fight with loggers, ranchers, builders, and tourists on one side and ecologists on the other. Fortunately, lumbermen have discovered that second-growth redwoods could supply most of the timber that goes through the mills. As a result many of the old monarchs seem to be saved from the ravages of a man.

"To Save a Tree" is a book that young Americans should read and can read for information and pleasure.

Separation Benefits

Many marriages benefit from occasional separations and in the case of composer Frederick Loewe, 72, and lyricist Alan Jay Lerner, 54, their musical marriage that has been on the rocks for 10 years now, might flower again into a blissful union with their reconciliation over the stage version of "Gigi."

The world premiere opens tomorrow night at the Curran Theater with Civic Light Opera director Edwin Lester acting as marriage counselor for the twosome's collaboration.

The duo had actually begun working together again on the film musical "The Little Prince" which is currently winding up shooting in Tunisia but Lester had been after them for years to rework the successful award-winning 1958 film version of "Gigi." They've written five new songs plus a production number called "The Contract," that entailed 72 pages of orchestration, 45 pages of piano music, and 10 pages of lyrics.

They skirt the issue of their breakup, claiming that they were always in touch with each other. Loewe contended at a press conference last week that he'd had a "bad heart attack and after 12 days and nights in an oxygen tent, felt I needed a long rest." His home in Palm Springs is reportedly a show-place from which he's reluctant to leave.

"It's the same story line but emotions have to be expanded in translating it emotionally. One moment that was very small on the screen, for instance, was when Gigi changes her mind to go with Gaston under any condition."

"We dropped the song, 'Say A Prayer For Me Tonight' because you just don't sing to a cat on stage. And 'The Night They Invented Champagne' was not used much in the film. It was an incidental song but became popular. It's been greatly expanded for the stage."

"It's the business of authors to make people forget. And I look at the concept of trying to bring youth into the theater with grave misgivings. That's class commercialism, guessing what the audience wants. In a way, we've alienated traditional audiences by trying to appeal to younger audiences," Lerner added.

"And one never can be influenced by what happens to the life of a song after it leaves a show. When we wrote Gigi we could never know that would become popular. You just hope that people will come into the theater and forget about the hits and get caught up in the show."

"No one in the whole world except Irving Berlin knows if a song will become popular," he quipped.

As for their working arrangement, neither could explain explicitly how it happens. Lerner said casually that he'd hum an idea to Loewe and after days and nights of discussion as to whether it was right for them, they'd decide. He'd give Loewe (or Fritz as he's called) the title and they'd begin work on it.

Lerner had tried to get Fritz working again on additional lyrics for the film version of their musical "Paint Your Wagon" but he said no. The former kept busy during the breakup with the musicals "On A Clear Day You Can See Forever" and "Coco" and the film versions of "Clear Day" and "Paint Your Wagon."

Elect Don Gamma to S.S.F. Council

On next Tuesday, May 22, voters of the City of South San Francisco will elect a city councilman to fill the unexpired term of the late Gordon Boblitt who died while a member of the council. There will be ten candidates on the special election ballot.

This special election is of more than ordinary importance because, as occasionally happens in California cities with a five-man council, the untimely death of the late Mr. Boblitt has left the policy-making function of South San Francisco "stuck on dead-center." The remaining four councilmen, under many circumstances, ordinarily "pair-off" in voting with resultant two-to-two voting. This greatly impairs the effectiveness of the council in transacting municipal business.

The Post has given earnest consideration to this situation, along with the qualifications of the candidates, in arriving at the recommendation of a candidate. This has been difficult because the four leading candidates are all well qualified and have been campaigning with commendable vigor.

After review, The Post has decided upon recommending the candidacy of Don Gamma to its South San Francisco readers. He is an independent candidate who early stated that he will "not be tied to either side of the current political rift which exists on the council." A number of the other candidates have stated they hold a similar position, but Gamma has stated this most forthrightly.

In addition, Don Gamma can point to other qualifications:

He has been vice-chairman of the city planning commission, he is a member of the executive board of the San Mateo County Regional Planning Committee, and has been the president of two of the city's neighborhood homeowner associations.

He is a businessman with long and successful experience and is currently employed in an executive position with one of the nation's larger firms. As an expert on computer operations he represents the wave of the future and will be able to assist the city in coming computerized operations.

With respect to the issues he gives first priority to the long-standing problem of the Colma Creek flood dangers. He advocates implementation of the city's capital improvement programs, improvement of the parks and recreation program, civic beautification, and a study of the citywide public transportation possibilities. He believes the city should weigh both the pros and the cons of the recent restructuring of the city government and the impact this has had upon the city and its employees.

He will make an excellent councilman for all of South San Francisco and is capable of rising above the sectionalism that has too long divided that city.

Vote for Don Gamma for South San Francisco city councilman.

Ellsberg Case Shows Judiciary Strength

James Halley

Ellsberg Case

The Ellsberg case is now over. It will be recalled as a stunning example of the strength and independence of the judiciary. It will also be remembered as an illustration of the politicization of American trials.

It started badly. Ellsberg had copied and published documents known by him to be confidential. Because of the nature of the information in the Pentagon Papers, many rallied to his support. Most of these persons had no interest in the innocence or guilt of Ellsberg and Russo as charged. They supported a political position — that taking the information was a good thing because the end result of publishing the contents was a good thing.

Many considered Ellsberg's actions as being within the classic definition of civil disobedience. Any laws he violated were laws he believed to be wrong, and he was prepared to take the consequences of his acts. "I am prepared for all consequences," he said two years ago. That he later changed this position when his attorneys discovered that the laws he was supposed to have violated weren't all that plain, had little effect on the public impression of his trial.

Ellsberg's acts were, in the eyes of his supporters taken for sufficient and laudable purposes. In fine, a plain case of ends justifying means.

Ellsberg had, of course, done something quite extraordinary. He had pierced executive confidentiality, and had succeeded in initiating the publication of a series of documents that gave a different view of our involvement in the Vietnam War.

At the time the Pentagon Papers appeared in the national press, the nation was already engaged in heated and highly polarized dialogue concerning the war. There was a pre-built constituency against disclosure of such information, and it was not unnatural that many took a dark view of Ellsberg's acts. Law and facts aside, this group responded with an immediate salivary reflex that Ellsberg was guilty of some kind of espionage and subversion. These people were also deeply affected by the nature of the revelations in the Pentagon Papers. To them Ellsberg and Russo were guilty before the trial ever began.

A small group of others went further. They said Ellsberg was a bad and a dangerous man, and any methods to bring about his conviction were justified. This led to wiretapping and breaking into the office of Ellsberg's psychiatrist. Again, a plain case of ends justifying means.

On top of these pressures should be added a bit of old-fashioned team spirit. The media largely considered Ellsberg and Russo as some kind of heroes. The federal administration and many of its supporters favored conviction.

In many ways Ellsberg had become a modern Dreyfus. America had divided into two camps — pro-Ellsberg and anti-Ellsberg for reasons that had nothing to do with guilt or innocence in the legal sense. In the midst of these swirling emotions and motivations Ellsberg went on trial.

No more difficult circumstances for justice could be imagined. The case itself was highly technical, and had, prior to revelations of governmental impropriety, been reduced to narrowly disputed questions of fact and law. Two charges remained alive, one concerned theft of information, and the other the question of simple possession of classified documents. Whether the defendants were guilty or not depended upon resolution of sticky questions by judge, jury and appellate courts.

The ultimate issues were never determined. Judge Byrne dismissed the case, saying, "The conduct of the government has placed this case in such a posture it precludes a fair and dispassionate consideration of issues by the jury." His decision must be viewed as the only one possible under our system of justice.

Political cases, however, never die. They are argued on and on, ad nauseam. This one is no different.

The two sides, both frustrated by the result, fight on. Ellsberg, now that he is no longer in jeopardy has returned to the political arena. Although the court gave him the option of having the case go to the jury, he refused the opportunity. But he now says: "I think the American jury would have come to a judgment that is good for this country. . . . Tony and I think we know we did something right."

Not to be outdone, those on the other side now claim that Ellsberg and Russo escaped justice because of "technicalities." Frustrated, many anti-Ellsbergs now see this as another example of permissive justice, and that guilty men have been freed.

The answer, of course, is that ours is a government of laws, not men, and that our judicial system operates with reason, not passion. In the midst of intense pressures the court functioned better than all of the principals. Its sole end was justice, and the means it used were in the highest tradition of American jurisprudence.

Appliance Dealers to Register Stores

By LORENE BEASLEY

A number of California appliance dealers already have received their registration application form accompanied by rules and regulations from an agency called the Bureau of Repair Services.

Under Assembly Bill 1263, effective June 30, 1973, appliance store owners must register their store or stores. According to Donald W. Peacock, Chief of Bureau, "If a dealer has more than one store where major appliances are serviced then he must register all stores and pay the registration fee for each."

REGISTRATION fees are $50 if a shop services only appliances or home electronics, and not more than $100 if a dealer repairs both. Annual renewal fee is $50 for one service and $75 for both. The registration expires on June 30, 1974, if not renewed.

This brings in the third business category under state regulation. In September 1973, a law was passed to regulate brown service dealers who repaired home entertainment equipment, particularly television sets.

Automotive Repair Services came under state control July 1, 1972 as a result of Senate Bill No. 51 requiring a yearly registration fee of $50 for each establishment.

Assembly Bill 1263 calls for the registration of white goods dealers with the Bureau of Repair Services. It amends the Electronic Dealer Registration Law. The name of the law has been changed to the Electronic and Appliance Repair Registration Law. Dealers who service white goods, namely major home appliances such as refrigerators, freezers, ranges (including electronics) clothes washers and dryers, dishwashers and air conditioners must register. Small appliances are not included in the new law.

SECTION 9947 of the Act provides that such service dealer must maintain such records as are required by the regulations adopted to carry out the provisions of the chapter. These records are to be opened for any unannounced inspector of business by the director or law enforcement officials.

It will be a misdemeanor to operate a repair business without being properly registered after June 30.

If you have not received your registration application form contact the Bureau of Repair Services, 1021 "O" Street, Sacramento, Ca. 95814.

A survey made of automobile dealers across the country showed that in a period of ten years, eight out of ten customers were lost because of unadvised grievances, poor service or discourteous treatment.

A common complaint the Better Business Bureau receives is from automobile buyers who feel they were "burned" when they brought their new car in for servicing. However, a large percentage of the complainants, when questioned, had to admit they had not carefully read the warranty they received at the time of the purchase.

Up until 1971, some automobile manufacturers gave a five year warranty, or 50,000 miles. Now, most of the automobile manufacturers provide a warranty of 12 months, or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first. American Motors is the first car maker to fix free of charge the entire cost of anything that goes wrong the first 12,000 miles or the first 12 months.

The best advice and protection concerning automobile warranties is to buy from a dealer who is known for his ethical transactions and who really cares about the buyer's new car after it has been delivered.

Hush Hush Audit

THAT HUSH HUSH AUDIT report concerning the Jefferson Elementary School District will not be forthcoming tonight.

The public can consider itself fortunate if they hear about it before the end of June.

Some members of the JESD Board, namely Beverly Forrester and Dorothy Adams, really don't care if it is made public before trustee David Parker takes his seat on July 1. Parker, Adams and Forrester were pushing for release of the document before the April 17 elections in the hope it would help Adams and Parker in their campaign. They both won. So there's no hurry any longer, they feel.

THE REASON FOR the slow down? They (Adams and Forrester) now feel with lame duck chairman Albert Collett at the helm the Board might possibly sweep the audit matter under the carpet. And with the help of certain news types who have contented themselves with looking the other way these many years, it could be done.

Now, mind you, we're not saying the audit report (which we have not seen) contains anything that might cause embarrassment to the board and administration, but if the auditors did their job — and I believe they did — then there will be a few recommendations on how to conduct certain school business — things we've harped about for years.

IN OUR MIND there is no question that measures should be taken to tighten certain loopholes in expense accounting. And, with the absence of a school board policy, we'll wager there is no way to collect for many of those fancy lunches and "entertainments" that have never been substantiated — other than to take someone's word.

THE DIFFICULTY we taxpayers face in the JESD in meeting rising costs, and some of the excursions, or junkets, we've heard about tells us we should either (1) move out to another school district (which a good many trustees, administrators, politicians, political hacks and city types would love to see) or, (2) get on the school board and join in the Wonderful World of Travel with its fancy hotels, fine wines, meals, and credit cards for those long distance Martha Mitchell-type phone calls to our favorite newspaperman.

WE WILL WAGER there will NOT be any red faces among board members or administrators in the JESD over the audit report when it comes out. We feel that the group running the JESD long ago forgot how to blush.

THE REASON THE AUDIT is taking so long to come out, our Sacramento source says, is because of the illness of two members of the audit team. But we have been assured by Attorney General Evell Younger's office that once the report is approved — at state level — it will be a matter of public record. And this newspaper will indeed inform the public of its contents.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN to JESD Supt. Frank Greenwood after David Parker takes office on July 1 many folks are asking? That's a good question and one that does not have a ready answer. We think he will leave the district, perhaps by August accompanied by Roger Barthul. Matter of fact, we have it by what newspapers usually call "an unimpeachable source" that Greenwood will be allowed to resign. Failing that, he will be fired — for cause. The source claims the matter of Greenwood's dismissal can be pushed through at no "buy out" cost to taxpayers.

PIOMBO CONSTRUCTION company of San Carlos was awarded that contract for Knowles avenue improvements ($410,288). If memory serves us correctly, Piombo is the same company that was doing all that work on the East Market-Hillside intersection last year — the project that had parents irate because of open holes that endangered their children. The Hillside-Market project seemed to drag along and we hope the city stays on top of the Knowles project to insure speedy completion.

IT WILL BE OFFICIAL — Marion Goodman and the entire (four persons) staff of the Daly City Information and Referral Center are O-U-T. The city has taken over financing of the Mission Street operation by putting up $32,500 and will staff the office, we are told.

Afterall, City Manager David Rowe explained to the city council, he can't see putting up good money for an outfit not in the city family. (And those folks at the I&RC have been kinda nasty to the city from time to time, right? Right!)

SICK CALL — Big Dan Aravetti in Mary's Help after suffering a heart attack last week. The co-owner of Westlake Liquors is doing well. Room 600 MHH, cards, letters, no phone, no visitors. . . . That darn flubbug is back. Felled Matson shipping's John Finnegan (Is that name Irish? You can bet a potato it is!) John's current claim to fame is owner of the finest flowering cherry tree in the Westlake area — corner of Mayfair and Fairway. Put away the cameras. If you didn't get a photo of the tree last month, forget it until next April. . . . They're calling Bill (Scott) Thomas, "Knuckles," these days. Seems young Bill put his hand in front of a wood splitting machine just when the blade came down, and, wham, much less thumb. He's still hanging around Mary's Help Hospital in fair condition.

GOOD NEWS PEOPLE — Daly City now has a legally constituted, signed, sealed and delivered, honest-to-goodness Planning Commission and Planning Agency (applause, loud cheerings, foot stomping). At last, now that this august body of appointed advisors are part and parcel of the city they can commence to advise, no longer feeling unwanted as a result of that oversight some eight years ago when the city forgot to include them in the ordinance that established the building codes.

WITH THIS good news, we must add that the business of getting on with redevelopment in the BART station area can proceed. But first, the city must provide, under the law, adequate housing for displaced persons. The city should buy up some property somewhere in the city and encourage some low cost, good housing. We are not talking high rise, or clapboard, junk houses. We are talking about good sound homes that people can live in. Homes they can afford.

Wild Chase Nets Suspect In Burglary

South San Francisco Community Relations Officer Michael Morello had a good excuse for missing a lecture he was scheduled to give at a local school yesterday. He was busy chasing a man charged with a Pacifica burglary.

Morello was on his way to the school, some time after lunch when a car passed him at King Drive and Junipero Serra Boulevard, going through a red light. Having just heard a county-wide alert put out by Pacifica police, for a fleeing car, Morello turned around and began chasing the vehicle.

His chase led him along Junipero Serra Boulevard, onto Interstate 280, then off the freeway to San Jose Avenue, then on to Dolores Street, San Francisco — all at speeds of over 80 miles per hour, and through every red light on the way.

Finally, aided by another South San Francisco patrol car, as well as officers from San Francisco, Morello stopped the fleeing car and placed Robert Hollenback, 25, San Francisco, under arrest and turned him over to Pacifica police who booked him on the burglary charge.

According to Pacifica police, Russ Carter returned to his home in the Park Pacifica area to find a man there, alleged to be burglarizing it. Carter chased the man, both getting into their cars which collided before the fleeing driver managed to get away. Carter, however, lost the car in the Rockaway Beach area, then notified police.

Posy Parade Entries Open

Chairman Harry Costa announced today that entries for San Bruno's annual Posy Parade princess will be accepted through May 21.

The princess and four members of her court will be selected the following day, Costa said. Costa explained that the first name drawn will be proclaimed princess to reign over the June 10 parade.

Entrants must be San Bruno residents between 4 and 7 years old.

The Posy Parade — this year's will be the thirty-third — is sponsored by the San Bruno Optimist Club.

Official Badge In Theft Loot

A burglar broke into the home of Warren Crawford on Alida Street in South San Francisco Thursday and stole $984 of valuables.

However, that is not all that is worrying officials here. The burglar also took a silver public health inspector badge, which belongs to Crawford, who is a food and drug inspector.

Among items stolen by the burglar were television and stereo sets, cameras, jewelry, electric razor, savings passbook, checks and cash.

PAUL MCGUIRE

Funeral services were conducted Monday, 10:30 a.m. in South San Francisco for Paul McGuire, who had been a long-time resident of that city.

McGuire died Wednesday night, of an apparent heart attack at the San Francisco Airport while driving home after parking his taxicab.

McGuire, whose last address was 5044 Geary Blvd., San Francisco, worked as a dispatcher for Yellow Cab Co. and was a member of the Office and Professional Employees' Union Local 3. He left only one survivor, his mother, Mrs. Amparo McGuire of San Francisco.

He was born in the Philippine Islands.

A requiem mass was celebrated at 11 a.m. Monday, followed by interment at Holy Cross Cemetery.

PALMER C. SICKLER

Palmer C. Sickler, 69, 220 Linden Avenue, South San Francisco, was found dead in his home Monday, a room at the South San Francisco Hotel.

A native of Missouri, he had lived in South San Francisco for 20 years.

He had five brothers and sisters in various states but no immediate family.

Funeral services were held on Friday from Nauman and Lincoln Mortuary in South San Francisco.

ELIZABETH HABER

Elizabeth Haber, 83, 220 Palm Avenue, Millbrae, died Thursday in a Burlingame Convalescent Hospital.

A native of Germany, she had lived in Millbrae for 38 years. She was the wife of the late Julius Haber.

Private inurnment was held Friday in Cypress Lawn Cemetery under direction of Chapel of the Highlands of Millbrae.

Gust Heads New Meeting

Former mayor Nick Gust was elected chairman of the newly formed Capital Improvements Committee, at their initial meeting Sunday, San Bruno police John Geary was elected vice chairman. The group discussed a program of meeting dates, and decided to ask for an extension of the June 11 deadline given them by the City Council.

According to City Manager David Thompson, a list of $22 million in projects proposed by the city council and various departments will be presented to the new committee by about May 20.

The committee plans to hold a series of meetings in different neighborhoods, so as to receive input from throughout Pacifica. They will then seek to assign priority to the various needed improvements and work out a plan for obtaining them for Pacifica.

Family Flees Daly City Fire

No one was injured in a smoky apartment house fire in Daly City Thursday morning at 428 Santa Barbara St.

Mrs. Nancy Seymour and her two children, tenants of the apartment owned by Mrs. Erroll Dillon, fled the blaze which caused some $3,100 in damage to the structure and contents.

Expert Wary About 1973 Economy

By GEORGE GOLDING

Economically, the first quarter of 1973 has been the greatest period in U.S. history, but money is going to tighten up and interest rates will rise during the remainder of the year.

That's the nutshell prediction of Dr. Raymond Jallow, senior vice president and chief economist of the United California Bank.

Jallow told 425 real estate brokers last night at the Bay View Federal Savings annual dinner in Millbrae that he does not expect 1973 to be a bad year, although there are some caution signs to be observed.

During the first months of this year, he said, the United States registered records in almost every sector of the economy.

"The consumer was the star performer," he said, buying houses, cars, boats, appliances, and foods.

But prices and wages went up and savings tapered off, he said, resulting in ever greater pressure on the money markets which supply mortgage loans to real estate brokers and home buyers.

Jallow predicted two or three increases in short-term interest rates would result this year, and the demand for loans might even force an increase in long-term interest rates.

"You'll do your clients a service," he advised the real estate men, "if you'll secure advance commitments for home loans before funding becomes dearer. Although 8 per cent interest rates sound too high for home mortgages, this is still cheap money and at a cheap price."

"Billion-dollar corporations are paying 8 per cent on bonds, which have a better liquidity and are a better risk than some guy making $200 a week."

"1972 was a bonanza year," he said. "I cannot say 1973 will be as good. There is a mixed and confused outlook. The economy has an excellent outlook overall, but with tighter money markets and high interest rates, a booming home construction trend and lots of homes yet to be built."

Jallow predicted that lenders "will be more popular in the months ahead — people will be seeking you out."

Elwood Hansen, president of Bay View Federal Savings, told the assembled real estate dealers that his company faces the same prospect as major oil companies — rationing.

"Customers who have done business with us in the past," he said, "will be the preferred customers in the future."

Daylight Bandit In San Bruno

The Fotomat, 298 El Camino Real, San Bruno, was target for another robbery Sunday. Police said $92.40 was taken in the daylight robbery.

According to police, clerk April Quok said the robber came to the drive-up window and demanded the money from the cash register. Police learned he signaled a weapon in his left front trouser pocket, took the money in his right hand and fled on foot.

Police described the robber as a white male about 25, standing 5-8, weighing 150 pounds with slightly wavy mid-neck length light red hair and a beard covering his chin to his ears.

He pledged not to force interest rates up just because money might become scarce, and said there is evidence of a possible short supply of mortgage money.

While the demand for home loans increased to $31 million during the first quarter of this year, he said, savings deposits had totaled only $12.5 million.

"We have only two basic sources of money," Hansen said, "the savings and the paybacks on loans you brought us previously."

Bay View's savings deposits, plus $7 million in loan payments, were coupled with a Federal Home Loan Bank Commitment of $10 million to meet mortgage requests.

"Now, the bank tells us the loan window is closed," Hansen said.

"We must now live within our own ability in the home loan market."

Jallow said the federal bank "has no alternative but to pursue a tight money policy for the next few months."

He said housing starts, which set a record during the first quarter, would taper off but that the nation and the state would continue active in building homes. Jallow predicted that 2.2 million homes would be built in the country this year.

He said the nation should not experience "credit crunch" as it did in 1969, because monetary restrictions should not be that severe.

Girls' Softball League Opens Spring Season

The Girls' N.P.L. Softball League opened its spring season last week. The Terra Nova girls downed El Camino's team, 19 to 11. El Camino was plagued by errors in the 1st inning. Outstanding performances were turned in by Terra Nova's shortstop, Donna Taylor, 2nd baseman, Dolores Dias and the 1st pitcher, Cathey Hood. El Camino's Bernadette Dubrovich was robbed of a home run when her long drive bounced over the fence for a ground rule double. In the other league opening game South City swamped the Westmoor team by a score of 34 to 5. If that score is any indication, South City intends to "hit" its way to 1st place in the league.

Serramonte Hurdler

Prep Runs Second Best

Serramonte High hurdler Ike Allmond stole some of the thunder from a tense scoring race between South San Francisco and Oceana in Friday's North Peninsula League track finals — but he had to run the second-fastest time in the country this year to do it. Allmond flashes to a 13.9 clocking in the 120-yard high hurdles — it was the second-fastest legal (not wind-aided) time in the nation to date this year. A prep in East Bakersfield ran 13.8 last night, so for a few hours Allmond (and fellow 13.9 hurdler Carl Florant of Palo Alto) were America's fastest. Meanwhile, South San Francisco faced a severe test of its NPL track domination, taking only four firsts. But the Warriors

Trojans Lose to Solano

Skyline College's baseball team lost its chance for a better-than-500 season Saturday when the Trojans lost a 12-inning, 7-6 heartbreaker to Solano in the last game of the 1973 campaign.

But this season's 10-11 mark (Skyline's best ever) is a world of improvement on the 6-15 the Trojans posted in 1972, and if Coach Bill Herron can come up with replacements for five key graduating sophomores, Skyline could continue creeping up the ladder to success — particularly since the Trojans will be in the weaker Coast Conference next year.

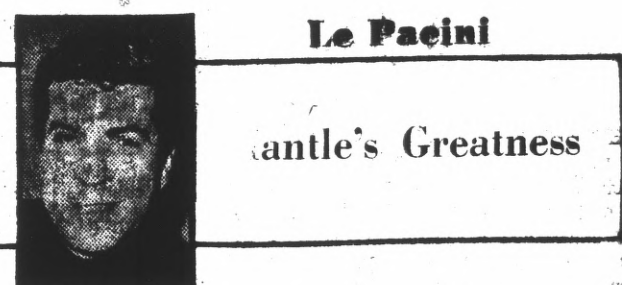

The loss that may be felt most is of Pat Tolentino, a .393 infielder who knocked in two runs. There aren't that many bonafide sluggers around.

Tolentino plans to play baseball at San Francisco State along with fellow graduates-to-be catcher John Giannini, outfielder John Armstrong and pitcher Dave Cvitanich.

Shortstop Dave Azzopardi plans to attend Humboldt State or Sonoma State.

Mantle's Greatness

IT SEEMS as if whenever baseball fans talk of Mickey Mantle's greatness, they more often talk of what could have been, had it not been for his injuries, rather than what he DID do despite his injuries — or regardless of them.

Mantle did, after all, play more than 18 years in the majors, had a lifetime BA of .298, hit 536 homeruns, drove in 1509, scored 1677, lead the AL six times in runs scored, five times in walks, once in triples, four times in homers, once in RBIs, win a triple crown, tie a major league record by hitting four consecutive homeruns, and was a Most Valuable Player recipient three times. Now, good health or bad, that was one helluva record.

But perhaps more amazing than what Mantle was able to do, despite or regardless of his injuries, was his performance as a switch-hitter. It was in this area that he established records, many of which have never been approached and which may never be broken, in competition with some great players. Following are some of the more outstanding marks:

NINE TIMES hit home runs with both hands in one game (no one else has done it more than three times — teammate Tom Tresh and Reggie Smith of the Red Sox); only switch hitter to ever win Triple Crown; highest American League batting average (.365, 1957); highest slugging average one season (.705, 1956); most runs scored in AL (132, in both 1956 and 1961); most home runs in a season (54, 1961); most homeruns, two consecutive seasons (94—1960 and 1961); most homeruns in a league (536); most homeruns in one month (16, May, 1956); most total bases in a season (376, 1956); most long hits, season, AL (79, 1956); most extra bases on long hits, season (190, 1961); most walks in a times grounding into DP, season (2—1961).

Forget the injuries. There is no doubt that Mantle was clearly, the greatest switch-hitter who ever played the game, and may forever be.

Speaking of switch-hitters, it seems strange, after all these years of seeing a minimum of four or five switchers in the Dodger lineup, not any longer seeing even one of them in the regular lineup.

And speaking of the Dodgers, their Ken McMullin for Bobby Valentine—Bill Singer—Billy Grabarkewitz trade with the Angels, proves that other teams besides the Giants sometimes make questionable trades.

Think about it. The Dodgers gave up youth (average age of the players they traded is 26) for a 41 year old third baseman who isn't even playing. In the meantime, Singer has thrown some near-masterpieces for the Angels, while Bobby Valentine is their regular shortstop and leading the team in hitting, and Grabarkewitz has seemed to have beaten out Al Gallagher (which may prove Charlie Fox right, after all) at third base.

That trade was tantamount to the Giants trading Sam McDowell, Dave Goodson and Chris Arnold to Montreal for Coco Laboy.

And that further brings to mind how critic-fans can never see beyond the hometown team. For example, for years Giant fans have been bleating that the Giants don't sacrifice bunt enough, yet in the last five years they've once led the NL in sacrifice bunts, another time came in second, and in between have been in the upper half of the league in that category.

All season there were complaints about the Warrior turnovers, yet the world champion Lakers easily outdistanced the Warriors in that category, and were, in fact, better than only lowly Buffalo in giving the ball away.

More on critics: If for no other reason, we hope the Giants keep winning so that the experts who "reported" all pre-season about how unpopular Fox is, especially with the younger players, will find something else to be absurd about.

Assuming their reports are correct — and we, too, have heard such things from what we consider reasonably reliable source — when has it ever been mandatory for a successful leader to be personally liked by his men? How popular was John McGraw, or Leo Durocher, or Dick Williams, or Napoleon's All that is really required, fellas, is that the leader field a winning team. You'd be surprised how much more popular a manager, or general, becomes when there is a lot of loot to be divided.

Speaking of the Giants, we are wondering if the Yankees haven't become a Giant "farm club," as the Athletics were once, a "farm" for the Yankees.

Former Giants on the New York roster include ace reliever Lindy McDaniel, the Alou brothers, Felipe and Maiti, Hal Lanier and designated hitting star Jimmy Hart.

Speaking of designated hitters (how do you like our segues, today?), good hitting pitchers in the AL no longer have an edge over opposing weak hitting pitchers, which may cut down on the win totals of such as Jim Palmer, Fritz Peterson, Catfish Hunter, Ken Holtzman, Jim Kaat and their ilk.

Aside from putting, free throwing in basketball may be the most psychologically dependent athletic skill in sports.

We've seen high school players, for example, who can stand on the free throw line in practice and dump home shot after shot. We've seen middle-aged men in some of the community gyms do the same thing, making them from right out there where the pros make them. But put those high school kids on the line in a prep game, and they'll miss maybe three or four out of 10. And we'd wager that if they were put on the same line in front of a pro crowd with pro players leering at them, they'd be lucky to make two of 10. Do the same thing with the middle-aged men, and they'd have a coronary before they even got to the line.

If you've been following the Russian-American basketball series, we're sure you've gotten the feeling that playing basketball, by international rules (read foreign rules) is the same as if we would tour Britain with a soccer team playing under rules that WE had made up. We invented basketball yet we can't play by our own rules.

But international rules or not, the Russians are clearly a professional team. When they win it's because they do nothing but play basketball with the same men all year around, exempt from any other work responsibility. They should play our pro, not our college and service men.

P.O. Publicity Is Criticized

Dick Griffith, president of the San Bruno post office employees' union, has blasted the Post Office Department's latest promotional program as "another scheme at brainwashing the public."

He protested expenditure of millions of dollars "for Madison Avenue promotional material for Postal People Week" and said the money should instead have been used to "move the mails."

"In addition to the (many) dollars worth of promotional display material which were supplied to the more than 30,000 post offices, each postmaster of a first class office — there are more than 20,000 in the nation — was authorized to spend $50 from petty cash in connection with Postal Week," Griffith said.

These expenses could increase to $250 plus with approval of the post office's District Manager.

The funds are used locally to publicize post office workers as an apparent move to give sagging employees' morale a boost, some postal union officials said.

At the San Bruno post office the celebration of Post Office Week was given little attention. "The one publicity photo taken was handled by the Chamber of Commerce, presumably at no expense to the Postal Service," Griffith said.

Rosa Named Ryan Aide

Congressman Leo J. Ryan (D-San Mateo County) announced today the appointment of Vic Rosa as his community coordinator in the Eleventh Congressional District.

Rosa, who has been associated with Ryan for 18 years, will serve as a district liaison man in the area of minority and community relations, in addition to representing the congressman at various community functions.

Rosa, who is truck sales manager at Fairway Chevrolet in San Bruno, is the past Exalted Ruler of the South San Francisco Elks Club.

Ryan said Rosa can be contacted through his district office at 210 South Ellsworth Avenue in San Mateo.

Two Bruno Boys Held for Theft

Two boys, one 13 and the other 14, were arrested by San Bruno police Thursday and charged with the burglary of a home on Fleetwood Drive.

Both youths are students at Engvall Junior High School, and both were taken to Hillcrest Juvenile Center, Belmont.

Police said the youths were suspected of taking golf equipment valued at $38. They were found in the backyard of the burglarized residence, police said.

Youth Hurt in Brisbane Crash

A San Francisco youth escaped with an injured elbow when his car rolled over and caught fire on North Hill Drive in Brisbane Thursday.

Charles Mueller, 19, of 331 Capistrano St., crawled from his 1966 sportscar after leaking gasoline exploded.

Firemen quickly extinguished the blaze. The car was reported

Nearly Running the Show Themselves

Many development organizations spend millions in complexities and operation. Not the Hapsmith Company, developers of Tanforan Shopping Center, now observing its first anniversary in San Bruno.

The two general partners, 'Hap' Smith and Fred Nicholas, practically run the show themselves. 'Hap' Smith likes it simple: "I buy all my talent, and the best talent in the open market," explains Hap, "and only when I'm ready to develop a particular area. That leaves me one job. I'm the developer and that's more than enough." The Beverly Hills developer says this with a ready and confident smile — a habit which early in life won him the nickname of "Hap" at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, where he majored in economics and business administration.

THE NICKNAME has followed him everywhere except on legal documents ever since — through 12 years as a stock broker in Detroit, and a real estate and development career that began in Los Angeles in 1937 and turned early to the commercial and shopping center field.

In his more than a quarter century here, few have known Maurice O. Smith, but thousands in commerce and real estate know Hap Smith, one of the state's most successful developers of giant regional shopping centers and head of The Hapsmith Company in Beverly Hills.

Fred Nicholas, Hap's partner for the past 15 years, handles the firm's legal end, being responsible for the Contractual Leases, Legal Financing and the Real Estate Agreements. The fifty-two year old Nicholas is a graduate of the University of Chicago Law School and author of "Setting up Shopping Centers." Fred is also a co-author of a book on commercial leases soon to be released by The University of California's Department for Continuing Education of the Bar.

He has lectured many times at the Southern California Practicing Law Institute, as well as being a panelist at numerous real estate and I.C.S.C. seminars and idea exchanges.

Nicholas is founder and president of the Beverly Hills Bar Association Law Foundation and for the past three years has chaired the Real Property Section of that organization.

He has also represented a large number of other developers during the last 15 years.

Spring Suits More Versatile Than Ever

Think of spring suits, which are more versatile than ever before, with more fashion savvy than they have offered for a long time.

The suits from J. C. Penney are versatile, offering a weekend of fashion looks in a single outfit—skirt, pants, jacket, and shirt. All the pieces are interchangeable and when put together with an assortment of accessories, they offer a myriad of looks.

For instance, one spring suit can take you through a weekend without ever looking the same way twice.

Penney Swimwear

The Cover-Up Is Important

In this age of modern living, where every other home comes equipped with a swimming pool, swimwear is no longer confined to just a bathing suit. The cover-up has become equally as important for an easy transition from pool scene to party scene.

The caftan is the newest looking cover-up with its full silhouette and deep dolman sleeves. It is as comfortable as anything to simply pull over a suit and look completely ready for any occasion. Another newcomer is the long dress that comes with its own matching bikini. The dress is usually bare-backed with a halter top and sometimes has long pajama pants.

Palazzo pants contribute to this summer's bare look when worn over their own matching bikinis. The top of the bikini becomes a halter top with the palazzo and looks cool and refreshing for a hot summer day, or night as the occasion may be.

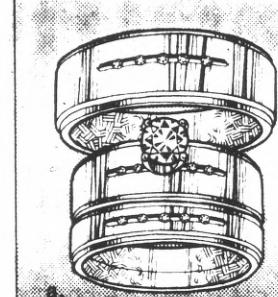

Not all cover-ups are long as is seen in short little smocks that pull over matching bikinis. The smocks sometimes have elasticized dolman sleeves that look like giant puffs when pushed up the arm.

The suits worn with these cover-ups are usually two-piece from hipster styles to brief bikinis. Most have the new halter top but there are still some bra tops to be seen. The excitement is in the prints and colorations which are unusually bold and colorful for a brilliant summer poolside scene.

Nostalgic Land of The Poster

"Sensational!" — "exciting!" — "suspenseful!" — "farical!" — "colossal!" these are just some of the words used to describe the theater of sensation melodrama in the late 19th century.

But just one word — nostalgic — perceives the impressions imparted by Peoples Gallery's current on-the-mall display of "Playbills of the 1890's" at Tanforan Park Shopping Center which is celebrating its first anniversary.

Exhibited will be 24 historically-significant reproductions of some of the finest theatrical playbills which heralded successful melodramatic productions in the decade preceding the 20th century.

Peoples Gallery has selected these playbills from the Library of Congress, Washington, D.C. The display also includes two rare playbills from the private collection of a theater arts director at Cerritos College.

THE POSTERS graphically depict the difference between good and evil, right and wrong, and clearly define the philosophical mores of that time.

Each of the playbill reproductions have descriptive story-board material which has been researched and written by Milton Kaplan, who has co-written such books as "Presidents on Parade," "Divided We Fought," and "The Ungentlemanly Art." Mr. Kaplan is a co-author and authority on American history.

Kaplan sought to present the attitudes and reactions to these plays during the times in which they were produced. Much of the story material contains actual published critical reviews on the plays, written following the premieres of these plays.

GROUND BROKEN — As a crowd of civic dignitaries looked on, ground was broken for the new Tanforan Park Shopping Center in San Bruno. Kim Hobson "Miss San Bruno" was shown astride the pony pulling the plow used to break ground during 1971. At the controls of the plow were George Gaugler, Sears; Mrs. Hap Smith, Hap Smith, developer, and Robert Van Kleeck, J. C. Penney's.

FOR EXAMPLE, Kaplan uncovers these comments from the New York Dramatic Mirror, September 26, 1898:

"The Land of the Living," an English melodrama of the expert make of Frank Harvey, and like all other plays which have emanated from his prolific pen, it possesses the distinct power of appealing to primary instincts and sympathies. It is no small triumph to awaken the interests and stimulate the curiosity of people who cannot grasp subtleties."

Shoppers strolling down the malls may take a trip down nostalgia lane and relive the climactic moments in such plays as, "Life of an Actress," "Minnie Palmer Mile a Minute," "Hand of Destiny," "Tamany Tiger," "The Great Train Robbery," "Hoyt's Black Sheep," "Shenandoah," "On the Bowery," "The Fatal Card," and "Outlaw's Christmas."

Melodrama, a play form that does not observe the dramatic laws of cause and effect and that intensifies sentiment and exaggerates emotion, enjoined an eager, and paradoxically, sophisticated audience during the Gay Nineties and the early 1900's. Theater owners used multi-colored lithographed posters, barns and fences were covered with the multi-sheet poster.

THERE WAS NO better way at that time to announce that "toil and trouble," and "love conquers all" is coming to your town.

The impact of poster advertising is revealed in a line taken from the New York Dramatic Mirror, July 23, 1898: "In one word, an attraction is often judged by its printing."

CONCRETE PIPE-VIEW — Tanforan Park Shopping Center, now observing its first anniversary, was well on its way to completion when this striking photo through a

Tanforan — From Horses And Autos to Airplanes

The Tanforan Race Track, established in 1899, was located on land formerly of the Rancho Buri Buri.

The rancho was granted in 1827 to Antonio Sanchez, and had previously been used as a mission rancho with the same name. The rancho was inherited from Antonio Sanchez by his son-in-law, Terribio Tanforan.

The race track was incorporated on May 8, 1899 with a subscribed issue of 5,000 shares of stock at $50 each, a capitalization of $250,000. The directors included W. J. Martin, manager of the South San Francisco Land and Investment Company, F. H. Green, secretary of the Pacific Jockey Club, Julius Eikerenkotter, Will Rehberg, and Charles F. Gardener. There were 33 subscribers in all, half of them were San Mateo County land owners and the rest were San Francisco capitalists. Among them were Henry J. Crocker, Pacific Jockey Club, Daniel Meyer, and E. R. Lilenthal. The corporation bought 200 acres of land from the South San Francisco Land and Investment Co.

THE FIRST evidence of racing was on Nov. 4, 1899. This was a horse race won by Dan "White Hat" McCarty. All of the wealthy men of San Francisco raced their horses at Tanforan, including A. B. Spreckles, Leland Stanford, George Hearst, and Charley Fair.

In 1907, the auto races at Tanforan started. The races were sponsored by the Olympic Club. The autos carried such names as Thomas, Peerless, National, Stearns, and Ford. The greatest rivalry was between the 70 hp Ford and the American Roadster which had done a 44-second mile in Los Angeles. The race on August 25, 1907 had such drivers as Tony Nickols from the Vanderbilt Cup Race, Jack Fleming from Pierce Arrow, Bert Dingley from the Pope Toledo Factory, and local driver D. Benny who had recently driven the 60 hp. Stearns to victory.

In September, 1909, the autos raced again. This time it was a runaway for the Stevens Duryea 318, with a track record of one mile in 59:25 second. Also racing were Charles Soules in a Stearns, and Frank Murry in a Buick "50." The Stevens-Duryea raced 300 miles at an average speed of 60 m.p.h.

In 1910 the first airplane flight in San Mateo County was made by Jean Paulhan. The flight took off from Tanforan track, and lasted for eight minutes, reaching 700 feet in altitude. Paulhan had been waiting for three days for good weather, but finally took off with gusty winds, to please himself and the crowd of 5,000 patient and curious people.

On January 18, 1911, Eugene Ely "lifted his plane from Selfridge Field, present site of Tanforan Race Track" and flew to the waiting USS Pennsylvania. After three runs at the improvised flight deck, one of which almost ended in the Bay, Ely finally landed, his speed taken down by the sand bags connected by ropes stretched across the wooden deck. The plane was turned around and an hour later took off for Crissy Field at the Presidio in San Francisco. This was the first time anyone had ever landed or taken off from a ship. Although there were people who thought it was a foolish stunt, many realized what an advancement it was in both transportation and warfare.

During the first World War, the track was used as the camp of the California Grizzlies, a regiment of soldiers. After the war, there were many flying schools at the track and in the vicinity. The Curtiss Wright field of the 1930's in San Carlos was run in conjunction with Tanforan. World War II saw Tanforan used for internment of the Japanese-Americans, for Army training, and for Navy replacement.

AFTER WORLD WAR II, the horses started to race again, but later the management moved to Bay Meadows. Before the track closed, it was the oldest commercial race track in California. Only the first flight of an airplane to and from an aircraft carrier was of world-wide importance.

But many other events at Tanforan were vital to the local industry and the public.

IT RAINED that year, too, causing a puddle or a mini-lake or two, such as the one above which created this double image of briefly idled equipment. Three large stores anchor the year-old Tanforan center at its historical racetrack site: Sears, Penneys and The Emporium.

THE FLAMING end of Tanforan in the 1960's, climaxing a varied, but acclaimed history as a racetrack and (briefly) military encampment. The site is now that of the noted San Bruno shopping center, also named Tanforan Park.

THIS UNUSUAL picture shows the various modes of vehicles used by the trucking industry. Pacific Intermountain Express will be among many other companies and services displaying units at Tanforan Park Shopping Center, Saturday, May 19th and Sunday, May 20th. The photo was the result of a P.I.E. time-travel study on each vehicle to have them reach the Highway 50 - Grove Shafter interchange at precisely the right moment.

Transpo-'73 at Tanfo Center on May 19-20

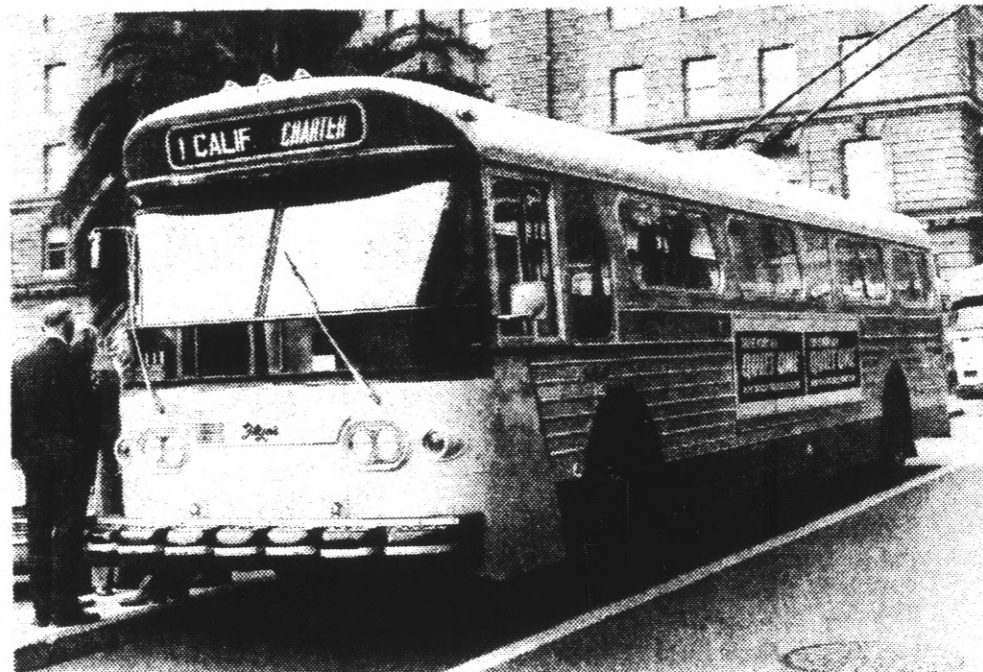

The United States Department of Transportation has selected Tanforan Park regional shopping center in San Bruno as the site for transpo-'73 May 19-20.

Exhibits covering various facets of transportation will be on display on the shopping complex's parking lots and interior mall.

Included in the show is the newest San Francisco Mini, trackless trolley, air bag car, Golden Gate Transit, Greyhound and continental buses, cable car, army and navy helicopters, numerous trucking and drayage exhibits and a Southern Pacific train.

CURTIS C. STAPP of San Leandro is shown accepting the "Driver of the Year" award from President Nixon. Stapp has driven 4-million miles without so much as a dented fender and is the first far western driver to ever win this event. He will accompany his vehicle to the National Transportation Week displays May 19-20 at Tanforan Park Shopping Center, San Bruno.

THE FIRST OF San Francisco's new fleet of Trolley buses will be on display at Tanforan Park Shopping Center on Saturday and Sunday. The "trackless trolley" is one of many vehicles to be shown at the San Bruno center's mall in celebration of National Transportation week.

Engineer From SSF Presents New Mode

A citizen's idea of a new mode of transportation is presented by Ernst G. Knolle, an engineer from South San Francisco. His "Articulated Train System" is covered by U.S. Patent No. 3,320,903 Re 26,673.

It features small cars being pulled along an endless track by stationary motors. A mechanical pulling means enforces a constant high speed between stations and a constant low speed at stations. Boarding is accomplished from adjacent moving belts.

A panel display of this invention will be on display at Tanforan Park Shopping Center May 19 and 20 during the National Transportation Week Show.

Proposals for this type of transportation have been made as far back as 75 years ago without much success. However, in the last year or so, five U.S. Patents were taken out for similar devices by inventors from Japan, France, Switzerland and England. Foreign big companies like Dunlop, Battelle and Toyota are also involved.

The great advantages of this mode are the absence of operating personnel, motors, brakes and controls on cars. Knolle's system would provide for a car to leave each station every four seconds.

They would accelerate up to 1 1/2 G. go uphill as fast as downhill. A system comparable to an urban rail rapid transit system could expedite people three-times as fast but cost only one-quarter as much, and most importantly, it would also only use one-quarter as much energy.

Systems such as this one are only at the drawing board stage. They will require extensive research and development before they can be implemented. Furthermore, claims of reduced operating costs and capital costs can only be borne out after an extensive testing program has been completed on an operating system.
